Weatherman Refuses To Predict Relief From Extreme Heat

POOLS, RESORTS FILLED

City Using Almost Double Usual Amount Of Water; No Shortage Feared

Temperatures mounted to 100 degrees Sunday as Circleville and Pickaway County folk sought relief from the year's worst heat wave.

Sunday's high temperature bettered Saturday's record of 98 by two degrees. Previous high was on July 1, when the mercury climbed to 95.

No relief from the five-day heat wave was promised by the weatherman Monday, although scattering showers may bring temporary relief Tuesday. Low temperature Monday morning was 73 degrees. The barometer was rising, an indication of continued fair weather.

Nearby lakes and swimming pools were crowded Sunday with those who sought the water for comfort. Many Circleville and Pickaway County folk were reported at Gold Cliff Park. Others spent the day at Buckeye Lake and other nearby resorts. Routes 22 and 23 through the city were packed with traffic until late Sunday evening with persons returning from week-end trips.

Two persons have been overcome by the heat of the last three days.

E. F. Eby, father of Byron Eby, 703 North Court Street, was overcome Sunday when fishing along Darby Creek west of Circleville. He had gone to the creek with Mrs. Eby to spend the day and after being stricken was taken to his son's home on North Court Street. He returned to Columbus Sunday night and was expected to be back at work Monday.

Mrs. Mary A. Kibler, 419 East Main Street, was improving Monday after being overcome by the heat Friday.

Circleville is using from 200,000 to 300,000 gallons more water daily than under ordinary temperatures, according to Harry Denman, manager of the Ohio Water Service Company, who said the water company was pumping as high as 600,000 gallons of water each day.

There is no immediate danger of water shortage, however, Denman said.

LANCASTER MAN KILLED BY CAR IN UPTOWN AREA

LANCASTER, O., July 28—Carl G. Shull, 49-year-old Lancaster waterworks repair foreman, was killed instantly today when struck by an automobile on a downtown street.

Police Chief Gail Seiler said he was holding James W. McCleery, Lancaster attorney and alleged driver of the car, for investigation.

Shull is survived by his wife, Mary, and a daughter, Eleanor.

LOCAL High Sunday, 100. Low Monday, 73.

FORECAST

SOLDIERS' PAY $100 MONTHLY?

Wheeler Wants Step Taken To Build Army, Eliminate Need For Draft

WASHINGTON, July 28—Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., leader of the congressional noninterventionists, today challenged the administration to increase the pay of soldiers to $100 a month to build up a large volunteer Army and eliminate the draft.

Wheeler's proposal, to be drafted into legislation, is the noninterventionists' answer to the administration's bill to keep draftees, reservists and national guardsmen indefinitely in service beyond the 12-month statutory period.

Backed by a majority of members of the non-intervention bloc, the Wheeler plan provides that the present $30 per month cash salary be continued for enlisted men, but that $70 be invested in government bonds for a "rehabilitation fund," to be turned over to the soldier or dependents at the end of service.

Wheeler asserted that if the United States "can afford" to appropriate $7,000,000,000 for war materials for the democracies under the lease-lend program "we can certainly afford to make it worth while for those who want to serve in the Army at a time like this."

"This, in my judgment," Wheeler said, "would build up the morale of the Army, build a large volunteer Army and eliminate the necessity of the draft."

The Wheeler compromise program was offered as the nonintervention bloc gave notice it is opposed to the modified bill to retain the draftees in service, and that it will seek a reassertion from Congress that it is opposed to the use of selectees, reservists and national guardsmen outside the Western Hemisphere.

Administration leaders conceded that the opposition of the non-interventionists will throw the Senate into furious debate when the extension bill is brought up Wednesday or Thursday. But they are confident that a majority will agree with President Roosevelt and the War Department that to discharge thousands of the selectees at the end of the 12-month training period would

HEIFITZ GIVES VIOLIN OF ALUMINUM TO U. S.

NEW YORK, July 28—Jascha Heifitz, the violinist, today contributed his aluminum violin to Mayor F. H. LaGuardia in the aluminum-for-defense drive. The instrument was used by Heifitz for rehearsals in moist and humid climates where dampness would ruin his more valuable violins.

FLAMES LEVEL TENANT HOUSE ON LEWIS FARM

Two Lads Alone As Blaze Breaks Out; Traffic Delays Firemen

DOG, CHICKENS PERISH

Lamp May Have Exploded, Wise Says, Setting Loss At $500

Thirteen-year-old Leonard Cain, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cain, Pickaway Township, was credited Monday with saving the life of his four-year-old brother, Teddy, when he pulled him from their burning four-room dwelling on the Charles Lewis farm Sunday night about 10 o'clock. But Leonard still regrets that he could not save his dog, which crawled beneath the porch of the burning house and perished.

Leonard and Teddy were alone in the tenant house when the fire broke out. Leonard told firemen that when he awakened there were flames all around him, and that he ran across the road to Dall Smith's for help, then returned to the house and carried out his brother.

Nothing in the house was saved, Fire Chief Palmer Wise said, who estimated the damage at between $500 and $600. Besides the household goods, about 100 baby chickens which were being kept in the house until space outside could be provided for them, died in the flames.

Traffic Halts Firemen

A freight train on the Norfolk and Western tracks held up the fire engine for nearly ten minutes and traffic which jammed into the narrow road off Route 23 which leads to the house slowed the fire truck to ten or twelve miles an hour, the fire chief said.

The roof of the frame structure had fallen in when the fire truck arrived. Firemen remained at the scene for nearly an hour to protect surrounding buildings.

Mr. Cain works for a construction company in Kentucky and Mrs. Cain and her two daughters were attending church in Circleville when the fire broke out.

Chief Wise could give no explanation for the cause of the fire. A kerosene lamp, which always was left burning in the house at night, may have exploded, the fire chief said.

GENERAL SALES TAX MAY BE PUT IN MONEY BILL

WASHINGTON, July 28—Rep. Doughton (D) N. C., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, today warned that a new revenue bill will be offered soon and predicted that it may include a general sales tax and a lowering of income exemptions to create millions of new direct taxpayers.

This new measure will be in addition to the pending $3,500,000,000 tax bill, Doughton told the House Rules Committee, where he pleaded for a special "gag" rule to govern floor consideration of the present measure.

Republicans objected to the proposal that only the Ways and Means Committee be permitted to offer amendments to the tax bill on the floor.

Victim Tells Fire Chief Wife Tossed Lamp, Burned His Pants

If you get in an argument with your wife and she breaks up the furniture and then sets the seat of your trousers afire, call 32. That's the fire department and the firemen not only will calm your wife, but they will also provide you with a bucket of water in which to sit. Firemen received a call to the residence of Clarence Beard, Barnes Avenue Negro, Sunday night about 11:45. Chief Wise said that on arrival he thought

Nine Recorded As Water Victims In Week End

By International News Service

An auto-train crash near Dayton which claimed eight lives, and nine persons who drowned when seeking relief from the 100-degree heat, today boosted Ohio's week end accidental death toll to at least 33 victims, the largest number of any week end this year.

A Pennsylvania passenger train, 50 minutes late and speeding 70 miles an hour down grade, crashed into an auto a mile west of Dayton, killing eight persons, including four children.

The victims, members of two West Carrollton families returning from a family reunion, were identified as Walter Reel, 32; his wife, Mildred, 36; their three children, Betty, 5, Billy, 3, and Ruth Ann, 2; Otto Kline 55; his wife, Viola, 53, and their young son, Ralph.

The train, the second section of a St. Louis to New York Flyer, carried the wreckage 500 feet down the track. A witness said the auto paused momentarily as it approached the crossing, then drove on the tracks directly in front of the locomotive.

The Columbus area added four deaths to the toll. Mrs. Mary McDonald, 49, founder and director of the Buckeye Women's Glee Club, was fatally injured in a two-car collision two miles west of Westerville. In addition, three men died of injuries received in earlier accidents.

They were Joseph Wagner, 84, struck by an auto last Wednesday; Perry Weese, 78, struck by an auto July 7, and Marvin A. Given, 57, injured in an auto-truck collision July 16.

16 MORE CALLED AS GAMING QUIZ ACTION RESUMES

COLUMBUS, July 28—Sixteen more witnesses today were under summons to appear before the Franklin County grand jury and tell what they know about the "powers behind the throne" in supposedly wide-spread gambling.

Ralph J. Bartlett, Franklin County prosecutor, said that seven will be questioned today and nine tomorrow.

One of the witnesses slated to appear today is the auditor, George Rector, whom Bartlett employed to check the record of gambling arrests in municipal court.

It is reported that some of the names most prominently mentioned in the numbers and gambling rackets do not appear on these records and that the defendants have been merely "front men" for the real gamblers.

To determine whether there is any connection between the so-called gambling syndicate and law enforcement agencies, Bartlett has summoned Everett McSweeney and Fay Nash, former members of the police vice squad.

Mrs. Jeanette Morris, of Circleville, also has been subpoenaed. She was arrested by the sheriff's department as an employee of numbers houses and was said to be doing "pickup" work.

Also appearing today will be Atty. John F. Seidel, a volunteer whose charges had much to do with forcing the inquiry.

The inquiry, Bartlett has said, will continue all week during which time the jury will turn its investigative spotlight on the slot machine racket also.

Five weeks of war on the far-flung battle line of the Eastern Front have not brought the German and Russian high commands closer together on their reports of the fighting. The opening days of the sixth week found them close in battle, but far apart in claims.

"The blitzkrieg is a washout," said S. A. Lazovsky, Soviet vice-commissioner of foreign affairs.

"Leningrad and Kiev virtually surrounded . . . Germans almost at the gates of Moscow," reported Berlin.

The Soviet declared that fierce fighting was in progress around Nevel, Smolensk and Zhitomir. The Soviet has reported fierce fighting in those areas for more than a week. The Red high command also declared that a Finnish warship had been badly damaged, and that Red planes levelled a devastating attack on the Romanian Black Sea port of Constantza.

Berlin, after comparative silence for almost two days, pictured Nazi legions pounding at the gates of Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev. German military quarters said the advance was going forward while Soviet troops trapped east of the Stalin Line were

Commercial Instructor Will Remain With Purina Firm, Fischer Announces

Frank Fischer, superintendent of Circleville schools, said Monday that Virgil M. Cress, 818 South Court Street, had informed him that he intended to offer his resignation to the board of education at its meeting scheduled Tuesday evening. Mr. Cress intends to remain with the Ralston-Purina Company where he has had summer employment, the superintendent said.

Mr. Cress, a native of Troy, O., has been a successful member of the high school faculty for the last eight years. A teacher of commercial subjects, many of his students have rated at the top in state scholarship examinations.

He has served as faculty manager of athletics for the last several years and has been adviser to the Stodge Club, organization of high school boys interested in promotion of school athletics. He has also coached the golf team.

Mr. Fischer said that no action has been taken concerning a successor.

F. D.'S CHOICE OF McARTHUR GOES TO U. S. SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 28—President Roosevelt today sent to the Senate the nomination of Douglas A. MacArthur to be lieutenant-general of the Philippine forces which the chief executive has made a part of the United States Army.

It is expected that the senate will act speedily on MacArthur's appointment with his confirmation coming before the end of the week. He is a former chief of staff of the Army and it was he who organized and trained the Philippine force that he will soon command.

Mr. Roosevelt also nominated James J. Connors, of Juneau, Alaska, to be collector of customs in Alaska and at the same time withdrew the nomination of Charles V. Hoover, to be postmaster of Project City, Calif.

MARKET, HORSES COSTLY, BANK OFFICIAL ADMITS

ST. LOUIS, July 28—Arrested on his return from a vacation trip to Maine, Robert Bloom, 46, cashier at the Crevecoeur Farmers Bank, was under federal arrest in St. Louis today on charges he embezzled $39,000 of the bank's funds over a nine-year period.

Bloom was seized on a warrant issued by U. S. District Attorney Harry C. Blanton, and questioned by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He was alleged to have confessed he lost the money on the stock market and betting on horses.

EMPIRE HEARS HOPKINS VOW AID FROM U. S.

F. D.'s Emissary Declares Parallel Patrol Used; Bombers Praised

LONDON, July 28—Establishment of a parallel patrol of the Atlantic by American and British warships was revealed by Lease-Lend Administrator Harry Hopkins today.

Addressing the British empire by radio, Hopkins declared "nothing will be allowed to interfere" with an "endless assembly belt" stretching from the United States to Britain to insure delivery of American war material.

He said British and American naval vessels are "patrolling parallel lanes with only one object—to guard the world's life-line."

Hopkins told Britain that "you are not fighting alone" and said that during the last few months American-built planes "numbering in the thousands" have reached Britain and that the United States' plane construction program is now "far advanced."

He also promised quick assistance to Russia against Germany and China against Japan. He declared:

"We can promise there will be ships to carry food, oil and munitions. America will never allow the people of Britain to go hungry."

To Break Power

"Our President is one with your premier in the determination to break the ruthless power of sinful and psychopathic Berlin."

"Your premier and my President are 3,000 miles apart, but we no longer measure distance in miles."

"After all the Hun is only 21 miles from Dover (England). Yet he and his Pagan way of life are 2,000 years away from Dover."

"I did not come from America alone. I came in a bomber plane. With me there were 20 other bombers."

"During the last several months," he said, "airplanes numbering in the thousands, made in American factories, have been flown and shipped across the Atlantic, ranging from the largest bombers to the fastest fighters. They are in combat now."

"I have seen during the last week the great Boeing four-engine bombers returning from Germany."

"Our vast program for building thousands of these giants of the air is far advanced—and Hitler will not be able to move his factories far enough eastward to escape their devastating power of destruction."

Draft Board Lists Order Numbers Given to Youths

Donald Layton Has First Serial Ranking; Questionnaires To Be Given Out

Order numbers for the county's 142 21-year-old registrants were announced Monday and with completion of the new draft list came an announcement from Selective Service officials that none of the youths is expected to be called into service for at least another month.

Next move on the part of the draft board will be to send questionnaires to the new group. The draft list shows that about 30 of the youths have order numbers below that of the last registrant to be called into service, which means that the class 1-A men with order numbers below 865 probably will be on the quick call list as soon as they have been classified and physically examined.

First sequence number went to Donald Seymour Layton, Circleville Route 2, which means that Layton was the first 21-year-old to have his serial number drawn in the national lottery in Washington. His order number is S-563 which means that he will be placed directly after the registrant in the old draft list who had order number 563.

Number 142, the highest sequence number in the new list went to George William Montgomery, Half Avenue, Circleville. His order number is S-2771.

FRANK BUCK

UNSUNG victims of World War II are Hollywood's jungle explorers whose movie treks to far-off lands are at an end until hostilities cease. Bound and fettered by international red tape, the man who made "Bring 'Em Back Alive," "Wild Cargo" and "Fang and Claw" languishes in New York and Hollywood, spending his time writing memoirs of the thrilling, death-defying exploits which brought him international fame. A copy of Buck's latest novel, "All In a Lifetime," which is in its third printing and rapidly reaching best-selling proportions after its initial publication earlier this year, has been presented to City Librarian Daniel Pfoutz with Frank Buck's compliments, together with a score of interesting still photographs from "Jungle Cavalcade," the Grand Theatre's current hit.

LITTLE CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICES

UNDER A BUSH

Every one knows what it means to hide one's light under a bushel. It's the same as placing it where it can't be seen. Any useful purpose the light could serve, therefore, is probably lost. Much the same is true of a Public Notice posted in an out of the way place. This is true whether it is tacked to a fence corner off the beaten track or whether it is published in a medium whose circulation and coverage are anything but "general" in the community affected by the Notice.

The whole purpose of the Public Notice is to employ such means as are likely to bring the Notice to the prompt attention of those whose rights it involves. Short of direct personal notice, the newspaper is most effective for this purpose. But it should be a newspaper of general circulation, that is, distributed throughout the community in question and of such quality and contents as to have a general appeal.

The occasional practice of placing such Notices in other types of publications of limited or doubtful coverage is open to question. Generally speaking, local newspapers carrying bona fide general news and having a substantial general circulation are by far the best means of safeguarding public as well as private rights in carrying Public Notices.

EARL SWEPSTON, FEDERAL AUCTIONEER, IS ARRESTED

Earl Swebston, widely known auctioneer, was held under $15,000 bond Monday for federal grand jury action after being charged with embezzlement of government money. He was bound to the grand jury in U. S. Commissioner Robert Newton's office in Columbus.

F.B.I. agents charge him with a shortage of $7,759. Swebston is a former Chillicothean, but has been living in Columbus. He was arrested at a farm in Madison County.

Swebston is charged with alleged embezzlement through a sale conducted by him as federal court auctioneer of a bankrupt lumber firm at Middleport, O.

Among his large auctions was the sale of $33,000,000 of merchandise for the government at the Columbus Reserve Depot; auction of 3,800 mules and horses at the Camp Sherman remount station after the First World War and sale of the South Charleston, W. Va., government ordnance plant, which netted $21,000,000.

Several months ago he was the Federal Court auctioneer conducting the sale of the 36 properties of the defunct Sears and Nichols corporation at Chillicothe.

FINDS GOLD IN ROOM

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — When Hal Draper, Nevada City assayer, moves he moves dirt and all. His building is being vacated and torn down to make way for a parking lot. The building, erected in 1852, is one of the oldest brick structures in town. Kicking the dirt around in his assay shop, Draper discovered gold and started panning instead of moving. It is believed the gold escaped from the melting pot when the metal was originally being bricked.

EJECTING NAZIS

A GOOD start has been made in kicking Hitler out of this hemisphere. And in this job it is heartening to see the co-operation between Uncle Sam and Latin-America.

Many of our people may have overlooked the fact that two notable ejections of Hitler and his gang, the first in Uruguay last year and the second in Bolivia last week, have been accomplished by the two smallest countries in South America. They both made a thorough job of it, too. And their example will hearten the other countries of that continent.

As for the Latin nations on our own continent, below the Rio Grande, though small and weak except for Mexico, they will naturally present the same hostile front to attempts at Nazi intervention. They have their powerful Uncle Sam right next door to help them.

PUNCH'S FIRST CENTURY

"PUNCH", the British humor magazine, is 100 years old this month and still going as strong as the British spirit in the midst of war's devastation. Many Americans are not familiar with Punch and some who have seen it believe it proves that the English have no sense of humor. The rest know that it is living proof they have.

"Punch, like England," says a British tribute to this magazine, "can wax lazy at times and seem to have lost its pristine strength; but when the hour calls there is still the old spirit to animate and the old power to execute. Punch has printed many worthless things in its time; England has done foolish things and things unworthy of her greatness—but neither the country nor the periodical which best represents the character of the country has ever quite failed to rise fittingly to the urgency of a great need."

"In the issues of Punch today there is to be found gay laughter, a calm assurance and, deeper yet, a burning indignation directed against those who are attempting with raucous brutality to substitute a primitive barbarism for the law and order of civilization."

scooped decidedly as a witness before the senate committee which summoned him for questioning as to his department's activities in and adjacent to the Atlantic war zone. Isolationistic solons were the chaps who sought to put him on the pan, on the ground that some of the orders he's issued to our sea forces have been of a nature calculated to involve them in actual fighting, which the non-interventionists have asserted is exactly what he's trying to do.

Yet when he was up for senatorial confirmation of his appointment to the cabinet post he now holds, he declared himself opposed to Uncle Sam's participation in foreigners' hostilities of any sort?

So why, if he wants us to stay out of the present mess, his isolationistic questioners demanded, is he so hard-boiled today?

For the very reason, answered Frank, that in order to stay out, we've GOTTA be hard-boiled. Any mushiness on our part, he insisted, won't keep us out; it'll drag us in.

Colonel "Wild Bill" Donovan's presidential appointment as "co-ordinator of information" (defense information) for Uncle Sam's suggests superficially that his duty's to be the giving of information OUT.

It's a wrong guess.

His job's to be the sucking of information IN. The government's information comes from a good many different sources—army intelligence, naval intelligence, the FBI, our diplomats abroad, et cetera.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

JAPAN PULLS SQUEEZE PLAY

WASHINGTON—On President Roosevelt's desk is a stack of confidential naval reports from the Far East which show that there are two big squeeze-plays behind the squadron of Japanese transports and warships which silently dropped anchor off south Indo-China.

As far as the United States is concerned, this may be the most important move of the entire war. For here is the double squeeze-play:

1. The Japanese want to keep the United States so worried over the Far East that no more ships will be sent to protect British shipping in the Atlantic, or to take the Azores and police Dakar.

2. Japan also will force the British to keep part of their fleet around Singapore, thus preventing heavy British concentrations in the Near East.

More than two years ago the Washington Merry-Go-Round reported the concern of the Navy Department in case the fleet had to be spread out over two oceans at once. It now looks as if this is exactly what the Navy now faces.

HITLER'S TIME TABLE

All of this Japanese maneuvering, according to the reports on Roosevelt's desk, is a definite part of the Hitler time-table. He has planned, first of all, to mop up the Red Army before cold weather descends on the windswept plains of Russia.

After that, and during the equable winter weather of the tropics, he will concentrate on the Mediterranean, the Near East, Suez, and later on India. This was one reason the Nazis paid no attention to the British advance into Syria. They figured they could wait and later put the squeeze on Syria from two sides.

While the Nazis are busy in the Near East, it is the Hitler plan for a simultaneous Japanese move on Singapore and the Dutch East Indies. Thus the British will have to be fighting in two places at once, will have to spread their naval forces thin, just as it is Hitler's present intention to force the United States to spread its naval forces thin.

Inside word is that there's a definite deal between Hitler and the Japanese for division of the spoils in the Orient. Japan, according to U. S. intelligence advices, will get French Indo-China, Siam, the Philippines, Singapore and the Malays, the Dutch East Indies, and Burma.

Germany will get all the rest—India, Iraq, Iran, Palestine, Egypt, and Syria—if, of course, Russia caves in and the Hitler time-table doesn't slow down. That is one big reason why there is so much rooting for Russia in Washington: why every military communique is put under the microscope so hopefully.

DEFENDING PACIFIC

As far as the United States is concerned, the Japanese move finds us not in the best of shape. The Japanese know it, and that is one reason they are moving with impunity.

There is plenty of the fleet left in the Pacific to defend our side of the pond—

Two Human Children Reared By Wolves

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● I have read from time to time in the last few years reports of a missionary in India who found a human child that had been brought up with a family of wolves. I believed implicitly in Kipling's Mowgli and Romulus and Remus in my earlier days but I wore that belief out, along with some others, and I felt it was a little too much of a strain on my credulity to believe in this one.

Now comes a book from the Yale University Press, "Wolf Child and Human Child," in which such an unimpeachable authority as Dr. Arnold Gesell confirms the story, relates all the details and throws in some actual photographs for full measure.

The bare facts certainly need no embellishing to startle one's imagination to its depths. In 1920 the Rev. J. A. L. Singh, a native Christian missionary in the parish of Midnapore near Calcutta, India, heard that a Man-Ghost had been seen in the jungle. The missionary and his wife with some of the villagers who had seen it went to the spot.

At dusk they saw an adult wolf come out of a hole followed by another of the same size and then by some cubs, and then came the ghost—"a hideous looking being, hand, foot and body like a human being but the head was a big ball of something covering the shoulders, leaving only a sharp contour of a face visible and it was human. Close at its heels came another similar creature."

The wolf den was broken into and the two human children taken back to the mission. They were both girls. One soon died. The other, christened Kamala, lived nine years. It was estimated she was eight years old when found.

The supposition is that when tiny babies they were left by their mother to play in the forest and a wolf mother whose cubs had died came along, lifted them gently in her mouth and took them to her den. Many such occurrences are known in India.

For a long time Kamala maintained her wolf-like ways. She progressed on all fours, either knees or toes and hands and elbows and had such callouses on the knees that she could not straighten her legs to stand upright. It was two years before she even stood on her knees to reach for something high.

Wolflike Habits

At three regular intervals during the night—ten in the evening, one and three in the morning—the wolf family howled to announce their whereabouts to distant packs—a language cry, not an expression of rage or fear. The human children joined in the eerie cry, and for years Kamala at the mission at ten, one and three (though she knew nothing of how to tell the time by the clock) would arise and give the wolf cry.

She growled if anyone came near her dish while eating. She came upon a dead chicken, devoured it completely, entrails and all. Gradually she changed to human ways. First she accepted food and drink from human hands. She stood erect in 1923. Seven years after she came to the mission she spoke human words. The story of those changes is one of the most astounding human records ever made. It gives us, concludes Dr. Gesell, "new faith in the stamina of human nature and the potentialities of human growth."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Grandfather: "We have a new baby at our house and an argument came up regarding how old a baby is before it can see or distinguish any object or person. The parents claim it has to be three months before it can see. Will you kindly answer this through your column?"

Answer: The new-born infant evades the light during the first few weeks; the infant indicates by every sign that excessive light is too bright, but about the first week the eyes will somewhat follow a light in the room, and the child may turn the head for this purpose. The muscles of the eyes do not coordinate until about the end of the third month. Recognition of objects is not usually in evidence until six months. It is important that the room in which the new-born infant is placed should be darkened.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Self-feeding," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diarrhea," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Miss Rosemary Jackson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Jackson of North Scioto Street, returned after a 10-day visit in Washington, D. C., with Miss Eloise Sunderman, a classmate at Miami University, Oxford.

Mrs. Charles A. Dresbach, East Mound Street, returned after a 6-week trip to Chicago, Ill., and Longmont, Col.

10 YEARS AGO
Joseph Goeller, South Court Street, first lieutenant in the Army Reserve Corps, left for Fort Thomas, Ky., where he was to be in camp two weeks.

Dr. Harry D. Jackson, 202 North Scioto Street, was to be promoted to the rank of colonel in the Ohio National Guard to succeed the late Col. Harry D. Snively, according to reports of several O. N. G. officers.

Miss Carrie Johnson, North Court Street, entertained her bridge club and an extra table of guests in honor of her sister, Mrs. John L. Joy, of Syracuse, N. Y.

25 YEARS AGO

Fire, which originated in the dry cleaning room of Noah Anderson, in the K. of P. building in Williamsport, was responsible for a property loss believed to be between $20,000 and $25,000.

The following men were given warrants for appointments in the Fourth regiment machine gun company. Corporal—John B. Anderson, Milton Friedman, Raymond Frank, Van Meter, Wiegand, Charles Rooney, Frank S. Littleton. From corporal to sergeant—Allwyn Crayne, Walter S. Mangold, Harry C. Beeme, Max L. Swerner, F. E. Wittich, Alton Graber, O. H. Cornwell, Isaiah McKittick.

Miss Harriett Groom took up her new work as bookkeeper for J. R. Noecker at his East Main Street garage.

Castle of Contentment

BY LORENA CARLETON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS
ELENA VARANOFF, young and pretty wife of THEODORE VINCENT, wealthy easterner, arrives in La Madera. She sends ROSE, housekeeper for VERNON STONE, the Vincent family attorney, back east to keep her informed about CARLYLE, Elena's little daughter, who is in the custody of Vincent's mother. Elena meets two young men in La Madera. One, LATE CROMWELL, is arrogant, self-confident of his way with women. The other, KOTT HAMILTON, is a pleasant young dude rancher.

YESTERDAY: Theodore Vincent arrives unexpectedly and tells Elena that Rose has had an "accident."

CHAPTER NINE

FEAR and horror closed Elena's throat. She couldn't breathe. She stretched an arm toward the back of a chair and supported herself until she could reach it and sit down. So Rose had had an accident! That was why she had not written lately. But what had kept Vernon Stone silent about such a disaster?

"I even fooled old Stone," Vincent went on gloatingly. "So smart. So clever. And so in sympathy with you. He looked in the morgue and set her lips in a muttonous line. No wonder he had waited patiently for her return."

"Vernon Stone," he softly jeered. "Vernon Stone again. Allowance—and he's sent you some furniture. Oh, I recognize that Sheraton desk, Elena, and those two oil paintings. You're doing nicely without my help, aren't you? And you have sweethearts, besides. Yes, Elena, you're very popular." Still holding her, he stepped back of her chair and curved his other hand about her throat. Tightly.

Then he bent and kissed her shoulders, swiftly moved his mouth to hers and closed upon her lips in a repulsive, brandy-scented kiss. Across his cheeks he felt her fingernails, rapid and sharp, but he did not release her. That pain was slight in comparison to the pleasure of humiliating her.

"Very popular," he said again, finally, and stood erect. "Even I want you." Lingeringly he drew his finger tips across scratched cheeks. For a second he gazed a bit humorously at the spots of blood, then his mood changed instantaneously and he began to shake with a violent, purple anger.

"You," he yelled. "You who wept about losing your precious baby, who screamed and fainted all over the courtroom like some Russian peasant because she was taken away from you. Oh, they knew what you were. And they were right. I'll see to it that you never see her again!"

In a fierce wrath he stalked about the room. Viciously he kicked the Sheraton desk. He slung his flask at the oil painting over the fireplace. And then his eyes fell upon the photograph of Carlyle in its white velvet frame atop the mantel. Sensing his plans, Elena ran to him and grabbed his arm, but he slung her aside with a brutal, winged upward shove of the elbow. As he snatched the picture, Elena again pulled at his arm. This time he slapped her cruelly. She was screaming with a wild stormy hatred as he smashed the glass protection and began tearing the photograph. Then abruptly she was silent. She wasn't even in the room, but Theodore Vincent had not missed her. He was too intent on tossing the scraps of paper that had been Carlyle's image into the smouldering red coals.

At last when he looked up, he

Unwaveringly she watched him, her finger pressed gently against the trigger.

"$150 dollars a month?" And then she knew where it really came from. Vernon Stone! Of course. She had thought his signature only a power-of-attorney gesture. She looked into Theodore Vincent's raging, darkened face and set her lips in a muttonous line. No wonder he had waited patiently for her return.

"Vernon Stone," he softly jeered. "Vernon Stone again. Allowance—and he's sent you some furniture. Oh, I recognize that Sheraton desk, Elena, and those two oil paintings. At last when he looked up, he gasped, then exploded with laughter. Elena stood in the archway between her bedroom and the living room, holding a shotgun.

"You might have to shoot a chicken hawk," Scott Hamilton had told her that morning, and forced her to take the weapon. Something in her set-eyed expression sobered Vincent, but he stood his ground. "Elena," he began uncertainly.

"It may interest you to know," she interrupted, "that I—" Uncontrollably her voice faded. As the man before her relaxed she drew a spasmodic breath and threatened him with new-born strength. "I can split the whiskers on a mountain lion with this thing."

"Why, you little fool! You wouldn't dare kill me."

"Of course not! But I'll put as many shots in your leg you won't care anything about walking for quite a while. And I'd get by with it. Oh, I should have thought about this sooner," she exulted. "You're in the West now. Out here you're not Theodore Vincent. You're just a trespasser in MY house!"

Unwaveringly she watched him, her finger gently pressed against the trigger. Not once did the strange smile leave her face. Vincent ran his tongue over dry lips. "My God, Elena, I believe you've lost your mind. You can't get away with this!"

"For the time being I can," she returned with confidence. "And I'll manage the future when it gets here. So make up your mind whether you're leaving or taking a shot in the leg." Through her busy brain flashed the comfort that even without being there Scott Hamilton was protecting her.

Very slowly, Theodore Vincent put on the dripping topcoat that he boldly had slung across Elena's best satin chair, soon after his arrival. Trying to pretend he was not frightened, he nevertheless gave way rapidly to her gradual march toward him.

"I'm going," he assured her. "I'm going." As he put his hand on the doorknob, he turned and snorted incredulously. "Elena, the milkspoon!" The door slammed after him. Soon an automobile swiftly moved away, and again all was quiet. So ominously so that when the telephone rang, Elena jumped and cried out. It was Scott Hamilton calling from the Northern Ranch to make sure everything was all right.

"Oh, yes," the girl assured him in clear, confident tones. "There was a chicken hawk here—but I fixed him!"

Methodist Church Scene of Dunlap-Hedges Vows

Bride Attired In Quaint Wedding
Gown

White alencon lace and net fashioned the quaint wedding gown of Miss Evelyn Ruth Dunlap when she became the bride of Mr. Richard A. Hedges of Columbus at an open church wedding Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in the Methodist Church. The lace bodice was finished with a plum which blended gracefully into the full sweeping skirt of crisp white net. A narrow net frill outlined the sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves completed the shepherdess theme of the frock. Her double half veil of bridal tulle fell from a garland of waxed orange blossoms. She carried a colonial bouquet of white gladioli.

Miss Dunlap was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Floyd Dunlap, of 464 North Court Street.

The single ring service was read by the Rev. Neil Peterson before the altar banded for the occasion with baskets of peach and white gladioli and other mid-summer flowers against a cool green background of massed ferns. White candles burned in cathedral candelabra.

Mrs. Dudley Carpenter sang "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life," Herbert, "I Love You Truly," Carrie Jacobs-Bond, "All for You," Bertrand-Brown, and "At Dawning," by Cadman, during the program of music preceding the ceremony. Mrs. Ervin Leist, at the organ, played "Melody in F," Rubinstein, "Oh, Promise Me," R. de Koven, "Salut d'Armour," by Elgar, and "Because," by Guy d'Hardelot, before the Lohengrin "Wedding March." Mrs. Leist played "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" during the nuptial service.

Miss Lucille McClure served as maid of honor for Miss Dunlap. Her bridesmaids were Miss Jane Drum of Columbus and Miss Dorothy Walker of Chillicothe.

The gowns worn by the attendants were of sheerest nylon. Miss McClure wearing peach, Miss Drum and Miss Walker, aqua. The sweetheart necklines and short puffed sleeves were edged with narrow bands of quilted nylon. Two saucy butterfly bows of peach and aqua grosgraine were poised on the full skirts, the colors contrasting with the shades of the frocks. Each carried a small nosegay of rose buds and wore a tiara of matching flowers.

Mr. Edgar Hedges of Ashville was best man for his brother.

Mr. Jerry Miller and Mr. James Gray, also of Ashville, served as ushers.

Garden flowers decorated the Dunlap home for the reception which followed the wedding. About 25 guests were present.

The large wedding cake which centered the candle lighted table in the dining room was served with wedding moulds of ice cream after the bride served the first slice to her bridegroom.

Mrs. Carl Purcell, Miss Dorothy Faunaugh of Circleville and Miss Rosemary Greeno of Columbus were assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Hedges and her bride left during the late afternoon for a week's trip to Michigan. For traveling, Mrs. Hedges wore a black faille suit, black off-the-face moire hat and matching accessories, a white chiffon blouse and white gloves were interesting contrasting notes of her outfit.

They will reside at 1346 Northwest Boulevard, Grandview, when they return.

The former Miss Dunlap, a Circleville High School and Blinn Business College graduate, is employed in the bureau of unemployment compensation, Columbus.

Mr. Hedges, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Hedges of near Ashville, is a senior in the college of agriculture, Ohio State University and is employed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the division of plant industry.

Lanman Reunion

The annual reunion of the Lanman family was held Sunday afternoon at Gold Cliff Park where a basket dinner was served at noon. Swimming and outdoor sports were included in the entertainment.

Those present from the Circleville vicinity were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bell and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Lanman, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Lanman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Judson Lanman, Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Newlon and family, Miss Louise Fisher, among others were Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Lanman of Sabina; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wharton and son, Billy, of near Ashville; Mrs. Minnie Wharton of Tarleton; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gibbs of Athens.

Pontius-Dreisbach Vows
Read Sunday Afternoon

Four large baskets of yellow and peach gladioli guarded either side of the approach to the altar of Trinity Lutheran Church when Miss Maxine Dreisbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dreisbach of Pickaway Township, and Mr. Harold Pontius, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Pontius of near Ashville, exchanged their wedding vows Sunday afternoon. Two seven branch cathedral candelabra completed the decorations for the single ring service at which the Rev. George L. Troutman officiated.

The program of wedding music played at the organ by Miss Anna Schleyer during the half hour preceding the ceremony included "Love's Greeting," by Hastings, "Jean," by Burleigh, "All for You," Bertrand-Brown, "Spring Song," Mendelssohn, and "Until," by Sanderson, the soft strains of "Still is the Night" being heard during the service. Mrs. G. L. Troutman's two solos were "Because," by d'Hardelot, and "The Marriage Hymn," by Oliver.

Mr. David Glick, Walnut Creek Pike, and Mr. Wayne Brown, Madison Township, served as ushers and preceded the bridal party down the aisle.

Miss Dorothy Kohler of Laurelville, in a smart blue sharkskin street frock with a shoulder corsage of deep pink rose buds, and Miss Elsie Updyke, in a similar dress of pink with yellow rose bud corsage, served as bridesmaids. They wore attractive white summer hats and used white accessories.

Miss Eyer Dreisbach, who was maid of honor for her sister, and the bride chose dresses differing only in color, that of the attendant being green sharkskin, the bride wearing rose. Made with short sleeves, slightly boxed at the shoulders, the collarless blouses had large smoked pearl buttons down the fronts. Tucked pockets trimmed the flared skirts, large white off-the-face hats and white accessories completed their outfits. The bride's corsage was of white rose buds, her sister's of yellow buds and blue delphinium.

The attendants wore four-strand pearl necklaces, the gifts of the bride.

The bride came to the altar on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage.

Mr. James Pontius served as best man.

A reception to which 85 guests were invited was held at the Dreisbach home following the wedding. Mrs. Dreisbach wore navy georgette and Mrs. Pontius, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue and white sheer when they joined the bridal party in receiving the guests. Their shoulder corsages were of red rose buds.

Many summer flowers made the home attractive for the occasion.

Miss Helen Mast, Miss Josephine Wolfe, Miss Eleanor Dreisbach, Miss Edith Dunkle, Mrs. Winifred Dumm of the Circleville community and Miss Virginia Dreisbach of Columbus assisted in the dining room where refreshments were served. A three tiered wedding cake centered the table, flowers and candles completing the setting.

Miss Marjorie Dreshbach played piano music during the reception hour.

Mr. Pontius and his bride will reside at the home of her parents when they return after a short wedding trip.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

Peanuts are nutritious. Combine with rice for croquettes; use in cookies, and on toast as canapés. For canapés, chop 2 tablespoons peanuts, and fry in 2 tablespoons fat. Mix with a chopped cucumber or a couple of pickles, 1 tablespoon table sauce, salt and pepper. Spread on tiny squares of hot buttered toast.

Rust stains in sinks, if not of long duration, may be rubbed off with lemon juice or vinegar. If such stains are of long duration, moisten a small wad of tissue paper with a few drops of diluted oxalic acid or hydrochloric acid—which are both poisonous—and wipe the stains. When they are dissolved, wash porcelain with soapy water.

LIPPY HAS BIRTHDAY, BUT IT ISN'T HAPPY

PITTSBURGH, July 28 — Lippy Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, looked back on his 35th birthday this morning hoping he'd never have another one so unhappy.

Durocher received several congratulatory messages before the Dodgers' doubleheader with Pittsburgh yesterday, but few persons had enough brass to wish the Lip, "many happy returns," after his Flatbush Flock blew two contests to the Pirates and fell a pair of crucial games behind the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League pennant race.

Howard Jones, Famed Grid Mentor, Dies At 55

LOS ANGELES, July 28 — The sports world today mourned the death of one of football's greatest figures—Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California.

Stricken suddenly, he died yesterday at his home in suburban North Hollywood before his physician could reach his side. Death was due to a heart attack.

Death of the famed mentor of the Trojans, who was 55, cut another link in the famous "Big Four" of football. Knute Rockne, Notre Dame's inspirational leader, met death in an airplane crash in 1931. Remaining are Amos Alonzo Stagg and Glenn Scooby (Pop) Warner.

Jones had been head coach at USC since 1925, and under him the Trojan teams, formerly rated as mediocre, climbed to the peak of football fame.

At their height, under his quiet, firm leadership, the USC teams were the most spectacular powerhouses of modern gridiron history. When they were performing to perfection with his power play style of coaching, they ran roughshod over some of the finest aggregations in the country, earning for themselves the name of "the Thundering Herd."

Five Time Winner

Five Jones-coached USC teams represented the Pacific Coast in the Rose Bowl — and won each time. Four times his teams broke up a long string of Notre Dame victories, the most spectacular being in the Rose Bowl in 1931 when the Trojans, trailing 14 to 0, came from behind to the final quarter to win, 16 to 14.

Jones and Rockne were great rivals. In fact, their rivalry was the very soul of football glamour during the halcyon years of the late 1920's.

In his 16 seasons at USC, Jones' teams won or tied for the Pacific Coast Conference title eight times. His life-time coaching record was 193 games won, 63 lost and 20 tied.

Three of his teams, those of 1928, 1931 and 1939, were awarded the unofficial national championship under the Dickinson rating system. His 1932 team was undefeated and also was generally acclaimed national champion. Twenty all-American players were produced by Jones' coaching, among them Morley Dryer, Cotton Warburton, Morton Kaer, Francis Tappan, Ernie Pinkert, Ernie Smith and Gordon Locke.

Jones, born in Excello, Ohio, August 23, 1885, began his football career at Yale University, where he played left end for three years. On his graduation in 1908 he became coach at Syracuse University and there accomplished the feat of piloting an unheralded team to victory over the great Yale.

The feat won him the post of coach at Yale, and he made football history his first year there. With a string of 10 victories and no defeats, he piloted Yale to the national championship.

Served At Ohio

In 1910 Jones went to Ohio for a three-year period, then back to Yale for three years. In 1916 he began an eight-year stay at Iowa. He coached Duke for one season, in 1924, and the following year succeeded Elmer C. (Gloomy Gus) Henderson at USC.

WHIRLAWAY LOSES, BUT FACES ATTENTION AGAIN

CHICAGO, July 28 — There was disappointment but no dismay today in the camp of Whirlaway, Calumet Farm's triple-crown winner which was upset in the Arlington Classic Saturday by Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention.

Trainer Ben Jones disclosed that Whirlaway will go after revenge for his defeat in the $60,000 Arlington feature within the month. After going east to run in the Travers Stakes at Saratoga August 16, he will come back to Chicago for another meeting with Attention on August 23, in the American Derby at Washington Park.

"We have no excuses for Saturday's defeat," Jones said. "Whirlaway just wasn't the horse that he has been—and will be again."

Attention's classic time was relatively slow—2:04 4/5 for the mile and a quarter. He finished more than a length to the good over the Calumet Farm champion, who this time did not have enough left for the final dash. The start was so slow, with Whirlaway getting away late, that Jockey Al Shelhamer gave Whirlaway his head sooner than usual, but when the test came in the homestretch the big champ did not have his famous final sprint left.

In perfect trim and ready for the weigh-in at Newark's City Hall today prior to their title battle in Ruppert Stadium tonight, Zivic was widely favored to retain his title, although the quoted odds on the camp were only 3 to 1.

TWO UNDERDOG, OUTFITS MOVE UP IN LEAGUES

Philadelphia Athletics And Pittsburgh Pirates Showing Ability

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, July 28 — Just when everybody thought the St. Louis Browns finally had found themselves and were about to do some climbing in the American League standings, they reached Philadelphia a week ago, ultimately took a resounding flop back into the cellar and now it is the Athletics who are crowding into headlines dominated by the surge of the Yankees and the collapse of the Indians. In a few brief pointed words the A's are in the first division, threatening to finish about third unless the Red Sox show more life.

With an open date in both leagues today, the Yankees rested on an 11 1/2 game lead over the Indians, who were four games ahead of the Red Sox, who, in turn, were four games ahead of the Athletics, and Chicago White Sox. Being fourth in a strange, almost unbelievable sojourn among the elite insofar as those generally whipped down white elephants are concerned. But they're playing that kind of baseball.

In the National League, it is the Pittsburgh Pirates who are threatening dire things for more highly favored teams. Those Pirates, under the dynamic and hustling Frankie Frisch are playing ball reminiscent of that turned in by Frisch's great Gashouse Gand at St. Louis and they are making a great bid for third money, 8 1/2 games behind the second place Brooklyn Dodgers, who are two behind the leading Cardinals.

Beat Tigers Twice

The A's climbed up into that fourth place yesterday by trouncing the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 1 and 7 to 0, while the White Sox were beating the Yanks, 7 to 3, but losing to them in another game, 9 to 5.

One of the things the White Sox did was to snap the Yanks' nine-game winning streak. In the Yankee win, Red Ruffing made it nine in a row for himself and 12 wins against three defeats. The Senators took a doubleheader from the Browns, 4 to 3 and 5 to 3, while Joe Heving, an ex-Red Sox hurler, allowed his old rates only six hits and pitched the Indians to a 4 to 0 triumph.

The Pirates turned in a great day's work in the National League, handing the Dodgers a 4 to 3 and an 8 to 0 double defeat. Truett Sewell turning in the shutout, and the double win dropping the Dodgers two games behind the Cardinals.

The latter lost to the Boston Braves, 12 to 10, then won, 8 to 6. The Chicago Cubs took the New York Giants, 9 to 2, while the Cincinnati Reds split with the Philadelphia Phillies. The former champions won the opener, 2 to 0, behind Paul Derringer, then dropped the nightcap, 8 to 1.

TWO GOLF STARS TO ENTER FINALS OF CLUB EVENT

Championship competition at the Pickaway Country Club was narrowed down to two contestants Monday with a third to be added Wednesday when the lone unplayed second round match is booked. The second round joust still on the schedule is between Ted Moon and Dean Brooks, neither youth being able to play Sunday because of other plans.

The winner of this contest will vie with Willis Liston and Robert Friece for the club title.

Liston played brilliant golf Saturday to defeat Fred Sirel, Chillicothe, 8 up and 7 to go, the victor carding a first nine 36 and winning eight out of the nine holes. The match ended on hole No. 11.

Friece led all the way in his match with Glen Geib to win 4 up and 2 to go. The winner carded 40-38, 78, and the loser, 42-39, 81.

After the Moon-Brooks match a draw will be conducted by which one of the three contestants will get a bye into the finals. The other two will play during the next week end for the right to enter the last round, which will be of 36 holes.

PICKAWAY COUNTY'S 1942 WHEAT ACREAGE REDUCED BY 6,368 ACRES

12.5 PERCENT SLASH ORDERED TO CUT SURPLUS

Rigid Marketing Quota To Be Decided On Prior To Harvest

NEW RULINGS DISCLOSED

Over $150,000 In Loans Already Made On Grain Cut This Year

Pickaway County's 1942 wheat allotment under the AAA program will be cut about 12½ percent, County AAA Chairman John G. Boggs announced Monday.

The reduction represents 6,368 acres of wheat land, leaving the county's allotment for next year 50,615 acres. The 1941 allotment was 56,983 acres.

Primary purpose of the reduction is to meet the wheat surplus with a cut in wheat acreage in an effort to keep market prices from falling below normal, county AAA officials said.

Along with the announcement that the county would take a cut in its wheat acreage came a report from county AAA authorities that rigid marketing quotas would be proposed next year, the program to be placed before the farmers in a referendum vote.

If the quota program fails to carry next year, that 1941 wheat which has been stored on the farm will be declared free wheat and will not be subject to the 49 cent penalty. AAA officials explained.

Defeat Means No Loans

Defeat of the quota system, however, county committeemen pointed out, will mean that farmers will receive no wheat loans next year.

So far this year 239 wheat loans have been issued in the county. They represent 131,561.9 bushels of wheat for a total loan value of $154,927.16.

To encourage a reduction in wheat acreage next year, the AAA is proposing that wheat growers who had excess wheat this year under the marketing quota provisions plant under their 1942 allotments as much as they were over this year and have their 1941 excess wheat released for sale, provided it has been stored under bond.

With the county's wheat harvest almost over, about 150 wheat marketing cards remain at the AAA office to be turned over to farmers who have paid their 49 cent penalty on their marketing excess wheat or who have stayed within their allotments.

Fields Being Checked

Community committeemen now are checking fields for 1941 compliance with the government program. Land signed under the AAA program represents approximately 70 percent of the total farm land of the county. Complete compliance with the AAA program would bring about $500,000 to Pickaway County farmers this fall in the form of AAA checks.

COUNTY HEALTH STANDING GOOD DURING MONTH

Commissioner Cites July As Second Consecutive One Without Quarantine

USUAL REPORT ON FILE

115 Children Checked For Defects; Clinic Result Told By Blackburn

July marks the second consecutive month that Pickaway County has been free from quarantine for communicable disease.

County Health Commissioner A. D. Blackburn said this was the longest period in four years that the county has been free from quarantine. June and July have been relatively free from all types of disease, the health commissioner said.

During July health officials continued to examine children under the Division of Public Assistance, checking 115 boys and girls and making notations of all physical defects.

Several children in the group examined had enlarged or diseased tonsils and a few had poor vision. Plans are being made by the Division of Public Assistance to correct these defects. Health officials said they noticed a marked improvement in the physical condition of the children since the last examination. Diphtheria toxoid was given to 24 children and two were vaccinated.

As a part of the National Defense program, the United States government and the State Department of Health are urging all Selective Service registrants who have been rejected from military service because of positive serological blood tests be placed under treatment in order that they may be restored to usefulness as quickly as possible. Prompt investigations of the source of infectious cases and of the contacts of such patients are being made to prevent further dissemination of the infection.

Several dog bites were reported during the month, according to the Health Commissioner's report. The dogs in question were sent to the state laboratory for examination, but all were reported negative. No Pasteur treatments were given.

Seven tonsil operations were performed and several other children have been placed on a waiting list for future operations.

Six field trips were made to private premises for investigation of sanitary conditions, and 40 patients were examined in the health clinic on July 16 by Dr. M. D. Miller of the Franklin County Tuberculosis Sanatorium. Thirty-four chest X-rays were made at Berger Hospital and one patient was sent to Franklin County Sanatorium for treatment. Physical examinations were given to 31 boys who went to the Kiwanis Club camp.

and then some. But any action across the widest part of the Pacific around Singapore is something else again.

The Japanese also know that we have some PBVs around the Philippines and south. These are giant naval patrol bombers capable of cruising more than 5,000 miles. No attempt was made to hide the fact that these big bombers were flown out to the Philippines, Hawaii, Guam and Wake, and the Japanese know they are not to be sneezed at.

The reports on Roosevelt's desk do not indicate that Japan will attack Singapore or the Dutch East Indies now. Chief value of the present move is (1) to keep us from moving more ships into the Atlantic to take the Azores and other key islands; (2) to get entrenched in Indo-China ready for the attack when Hitler is ready to give the signal in the Near East.

The Japanese would have a tough time taking Singapore now; also the Dutch East Indies. They would have to wait until the British were materially weakened. But meanwhile they can, and probably will, take unfortified Borneo (belonging to the Dutch and British) in the relatively near future.

FRENCH LESSONS FOR U.S.A.

In Vichy these days, the French General Staff has almost nothing to do except sit at little cafe tables, and drink coffee. There were some good men on the French General Staff, though bogged down by over-aged superiors.

And now with plenty of time on their hands, these officers occupy themselves with plotting what they would do if they were running the operations in the various war theatres.

Not long ago they gave to American newsmen in Vichy this formula for winning the war. If they were directing the strategy of the United States, they said, they would stage an immediate naval and bombing attack on Tokyo.

Japan is sure to come to grips with the United States anyway, they argued, so it is far better for the U. S. A. to pick the time of battle and its place rather than waiting until Japan and Germany have seriously weakened or knocked out the British fleet.

An American attack on Tokyo, the French General Staff argued, would devastate the paper and bamboo capital, take Japan out of the war, and cause such terrific reactions on the German people that Hitler could hardly continue fighting.

What Europe is watching, said

the French officers, is whether the United States really means business—and before it is too late. A strong initiative by the United States, they said, could easily end the war now.

British officials in Washington always send two copies of communications to London, one by sea and one by air. For a time, they found that nearly all sea-borne correspondence was lost. Air mail was much safer. . . . A newsman entered a War Department office which bore the letters "OUSW" on the door. He asked an Army deskman what the letters meant. The deskman didn't know, and asked another. But he didn't know. Finally, the truth came out. "OUSW" stands for Office of the Under Secretary of War.

CITY'S POLICE HAVE BUSY WEEK END; NINE ARRESTED

Six persons remained in City Jail Monday on drunk and disorderly charges following a busy week end for police.

During Saturday and Sunday nights nine persons were taken to police headquarters for intoxication. Three of them posted bonds and were released. Of the nine arrested charges of disorderly conduct were filed against two in addition to the intoxication charges. Charges of assault and battery will be filed against another, police said.

Police attributed the number of intoxicants to the hot weather.

Weatherman Refuses To Predict Relief From Extreme Heat

POOLS, RESORTS FILLED

City Using Almost Double Usual Amount of Water; No Shortage Feared

Temperatures mounted to 100 degrees Sunday as Circleville and Pickaway County folk sought relief from the year's worst heat wave.

Sunday's high temperature bettered Saturday's record of 98 by two degrees. Previous high was on July 1, when the mercury climbed to 95.

No relief from the five-day heat wave was promised by the weatherman Monday, although scattered showers may bring temporary relief Tuesday. Low temperature Monday morning was 73 degrees. The barometer was rising, an indication of continued fair weather.

Nearby lakes and swimming pools were crowded Sunday with those who sought the water for comfort. Many Circleville and Pickaway County folk were reported at Gold Cliff Park. Others spent the day at Buckeye Lake and other nearby resorts. Routes 22 and 23 through the city were packed with traffic until late Sunday evening with persons returning from week-end trips.

Two persons have been overcome by the heat of the last three days.

E. F. Eby, father of Byron Eby, 703 North Court Street, was overcome Sunday when fishing along Darby Creek west of Circleville. He had gone to the creek with Mrs. Eby to spend the day and after being stricken was taken to his son's home on North Court Street. He returned to Columbus Sunday night and was expected to be back at work Monday.

Mrs. Mary A. Kibler, 419 East Main Street, was improving Monday after being overcome by the heat Friday.

Circleville is using from 200,000 to 300,000 gallons more water daily than under ordinary temperatures, according to Harry Denman, manager of the Ohio Water Service Company, who said the water company was pumping as high as 600,000 gallons of water each day.

There is no immediate danger of water shortage, however, Denman said.

SOLDIERS' PAY $100 MONTHLY?

Wheeler Wants Step Taken To Build Army, Eliminate Need For Draft

WASHINGTON, July 28—Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., leader of the congressional noninterventionists, today challenged the administration to increase the pay of soldiers to $100 a month to build up a large volunteer Army and eliminate the draft.

Wheeler's proposal, to be drafted into legislation, is the noninterventionists' answer to the administration's bill to keep draftees, reservists and national guardsmen indefinitely in service beyond the 12-month statutory period.

Backed by a majority of members of the non-intervention bloc, the Wheeler plan provides that the present $30 per month cash salary be continued for enlisted men, but that $70 be invested in government bonds for a "rehabilitation fund," to be turned over to the soldier or dependents at the end of service.

Wheeler asserted that if the United States "can afford" to appropriate $7,000,000,000 for war materials for the democracies under the lease-lend program "we can certainly afford to make it worth while for those who want to serve in the Army at a time like this."

"This, in my judgment," Wheeler said, "would build up the morale of the Army, build a large volunteer Army and eliminate the necessity of the draft."

The Wheeler compromise program was offered as the non-intervention bloc gave notice it is opposed to the modified bill to retain the draftees in service, and that it will seek a reassertion from Congress that it is opposed to the use of selectees, reservists and national guardsmen outside the Western Hemisphere.

Administration leaders conceded that the opposition of the non-interventionists will throw the Senate into furious debate when the extension bill is brought up Wednesday or Thursday. But they are confident that a majority will agree with President Roosevelt and the War Department that to discharge thousands of the selectees at the end of the 12-month training period would

Lamp May Have Exploded, Wise Says, Setting Loss At $500

Thirteen-year-old Leonard Cain, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cain, Pickaway Township, was credited Monday with saving the life of his four-year-old brother, Teddy, when he pulled him from their burning four-room dwelling on the Charles Lewis farm Sunday night about 10 o'clock. But Leonard still regrets that he could not save his dog, which crawled beneath the porch of the burning house and perished.

Leonard and Teddy were alone in the tenant house when the fire broke out. Leonard told firemen that when he awakened there were flames all around him, and that he ran across the road to Dall Smith's for help, then returned to the house and carried out his brother.

Nothing in the house was saved, Fire Chief Palmer Wise said, who estimated the damage at between $500 and $600. Besides the household goods, about 100 baby chickens, which were being kept in the house until space outside could be provided for them, died in the flames.

Traffic Halts Firemen

A freight train on the Norfolk and Western tracks held up the fire engine for nearly ten minutes and traffic which jammed into the narrow road off Route 23 which leads to the house slowed the fire truck to ten or twelve miles an hour, the fire chief said.

The roof of the frame structure had fallen in when the fire truck arrived. Firemen remained at the scene for nearly an hour to protect surrounding buildings.

Mr. Cain works for a construction company in Kentucky and Mrs. Cain and her two daughters were attending church in Circleville when the fire broke out.

Chief Wise could give no explanation for the cause of the fire. A kerosene lamp, which always was left burning in the house at night, may have exploded, the fire chief said.

GENERAL SALES TAX MAY BE PUT IN MONEY BILL

WASHINGTON, July 28—Rep. Doughton (D) N. C., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, today warned that a new revenue bill will be offered soon and predicted that it may include a general sales tax and a lowering of income exemptions to create millions of new direct taxpayers.

This new measure will be in addition to the pending $3,500,000,000 tax bill, Doughton told the House Rules Committee, where he pleaded for a special "gag" rule to govern floor consideration of the present measure.

Republicans objected to the proposal that only the Ways and Means Committee be permitted to offer amendments to the tax bill on the floor.

Victim Tells Fire Chief Wife Tossed Lamp, Burned His Pants

Firemen received a call to the residence of Clarence Beard, Barnes Avenue Negro, Sunday night about 11:45. Chief Wise said that on arrival he thought

Judy Garland Marries!

Singing Star Of Screen Becomes Bride Of David Rose, Martha Raye's 'Ex'

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 28—Judy Garland, screen star, and Dave Rose, 31-year-old composer and orchestra leader, were married in Las Vegas early today after an airplane elopement from Hollywood.

The ceremony was performed by Justice of Peace Mahlon Drown in his office in the courthouse.

Arrangements for the elopement were handled through a scenic tours concern, which arranged for the airplane and for Judge Drown to perform the ceremony.

The plane arrived at 1 a. m. and the marriage was performed about 15 minutes later, as soon as the license could be issued.

The elopers were accompanied by Judy's mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. William Gilmore. The young singing star, asking her mother's help in filling out the license form, took out the license under her real name—Frances Garland. She gave her age as 19.

Rose gave his name as David D. Rose, his age as 31, and said his divorce became final in May, 1941. The divorce was from Martha Raye.

Judy wore a large white hat and a pale pink knit dress with a short cape to match. Rose was attired in a brown slacks suit.

Following the marriage the couple went to El Rancho Vegas, swank desert lodge three miles from town, "where all of the Hollywood elopers go," as one Las Vegas resident put it.

The Gilmores planned to return to Hollywood later today. Judy Garland and Dave Rose met, not through the movies, but through radio. Their romance began about a year ago while she was singing on Bob Hope's program and he was arranging music for a radio show.

"Still A Child"

For months there were rumors that the romance was serious. At first Hollywood found it hard to believe, for Judy, although a young woman by this time, was still regarded by many as still a child star in her early teens.

Their engagement was formally announced last May, on the occasion of Judy's nineteenth birthday. At that time the star declared there would be no elopement, saying:

"Not for us. Dave and I both believe in a home marriage, and I

CENTRAL CITY, Colo., July 28—Discovery of the chained and roped body of a hermit trapper in a lonely mountain cabin today started a search for the slayer who padlocked the trapper to a rafter and apparently left him to starve to death three months ago.

Sheriff E. L. Williams identified the victim as Joe Modetz, 55, and said that from the way the body was bound and chained he was certain the trapper had been murdered.

The body was found yesterday by Henry Wolcott Toll, Denver attorney and owner of the cabin, which is located 20 miles north-east of this once-famous gold mining camp.

Two years ago Modetz figured in the news when he was caught in a bear trap and lay helpless for several days before aid reached him.

Nine Recorded As Water Victims In Week End

By International News Service

An auto-train crash near Dayton which claimed eight lives, and nine persons who drowned when seeking relief from the 100-degree heat, today boosted Ohio's week end accidental death toll to at least 33 victims, the largest number of any week end this year.

A Pennsylvania passenger train, 50 minutes late and speeding 70 miles an hour down grade, crashed into an auto a mile west of Dayton, killing eight persons, including four children.

The victims, members of two West Carrollton families returning from a family reunion, were identified as Walter Reel, 32; his wife, Mildred, 36; their three children, Betty, 5, Billy, 3, and Ruth Ann, 2; Otto Kline 55; his wife, Viola, 53, and their young son, Ralph.

The train, the second section of a St. Louis to New York Flyer, carried the wreckage 500 feet down the track. A witness said the auto paused momentarily as it approached the crossing, then drove on the tracks directly in front of the locomotive.

The Columbus area added four deaths to the toll. Mrs. Mary McDonald, 49, founder and director of the Buckeye Women's Glee Club, was fatally injured in a two-car collision two miles west of Westerville. In addition, three men died of injuries received in earlier accident.

They were Joseph Wagner, 84, struck by an auto last Wednesday; Perry Weese, 78, struck by an auto July 7, and Marvin A. Given, 57, injured in an auto-truck collision July 16.

16 MORE CALLED AS GAMING QUIZ ACTION RESUMES

COLUMBUS, July 28—Sixteen more witnesses today were under summons to appear before the Franklin County grand jury and tell what they know about the "powers behind the throne" in supposedly wide-spread gambling.

Ralph J. Bartlett, Franklin County prosecutor, said that seven will be questioned today and nine tomorrow.

One of the witnesses slated to appear today is the auditor, George Rector, whom Bartlett employed to check the record of gambling arrests in municipal court.

It is reported that some of the names most prominently mentioned in the numbers and gambling rackets do not appear on these records and that the defendants have been merely "front men" for the real gamblers.

To determine whether there is any connection between the so-called gambling syndicate and law enforcement agencies, Bartlett has summoned Everett McSweeney and Fay Nash, former members of the police vice squad.

Mrs. Jeanette Morris, of Circleville, also has been subpoenaed. She was arrested by the sheriff's department as an employee of numbers houses and was said to be doing "pickup" work.

Also appearing today will be Atty. John F. Seidel, a volunteer whose charges had much to do with forcing the inquiry.

The inquiry, Bartlett has said, will continue all week during which time the jury will turn its investigative spotlight on the slot machine racket also.

GRESS TO GIVE UP SCHOOL JOB

Commercial Instructor Will Remain With Purina Firm, Fischer Announces

Frank Fischer, superintendent of Circleville schools, said Monday that Virgil M. Cress, 818 South Court Street, had informed him that he intended to offer his resignation to the board of education at its meeting scheduled Tuesday evening. Mr. Cress intends to remain with the Ralston-Purina Company where he has had summer employment, the superintendent said.

Mr. Cress, a native of Troy, O., has been a successful member of the high school faculty for the last eight years. A teacher of commercial subjects, many of his students have rated at the top in state scholarship examinations. He has served as faculty manager of athletics for the last several years and has been adviser to the Stodge Club, organization of high school boys interested in promotion of school athletics. F. D.'S CHOICE OF McARTHUR GOES TO U. S. SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 28—President Roosevelt today sent to the Senate the nomination of Douglas A. MacArthur to be lieutenant-general of the Philippine forces which the chief executive has made a part of the United States Army.

It is expected that the senate will act speedily on MacArthur's appointment with his confirmation coming before the end of the week. He is a former chief of staff of the Army and it was he who organized and trained the Philippine force that he will soon command.

Mr. Roosevelt also nominated James J. Connors, of Juneau, Alaska, to be collector of customs in Alaska and at the same time withdrew the nomination of Charles V. Hoover, to be postmaster of Project City, Calif.

FIERCE FIGHTING RAGES IN THREE RUSSIAN ZONES

Berlin Contradicts Moscow Claims About Progress Of Great Struggle

LONDON AREA BOMBED

Japanese Civilians Leaving Canton, Other Districts In Kwantung

By International News Service

Five weeks of war on the far-flung battle line of the Eastern Front have not brought the German and Russian high commands closer together on their reports of the fighting. The opening days of the sixth week found them close in battle, but far apart in claims.

"The blitzkrieg is a washout," said S. A. Lazovsky, Soviet vice-commissar of foreign affairs. "Leningrad and Kiev virtually surrounded . . . Germans almost at the gates of Moscow," reported Berlin.

The Soviet declared that fierce fighting was in progress around Nevel, Smolensk and Zhitomir. The Soviet has reported fierce fighting in those areas for more than a week. The Red high command also declared that a Finnish warship had been badly damaged, and that Red planes levelled a devastating attack on the Romanian Black Sea port of Constantza.

Berlin, after comparative silence for almost two days, pictured Nazi legions pounding at the gates of Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev. German military quarters said the advance was going forward while Soviet troops trapped east of the Stalin Line were being "annihilated." These battles will go down in history as the "bloodiest and fiercest engagements seen in the 20th Century," it was asserted.

NEW YORK, July 28—The Japanese army in Manchukuo and Korea has been increased to 17 divisions and large Japanese forces are arriving on the islands of Formosa and Hainan, according to Chungking dispatches broadcast by the British radio today and heard in New York by N. B. C. Reports have long been current that Japan's drive southward to Indo-China and Thailand was merely a feint to cover northward movements designed to aid Germany against Soviet Russia.

Yesterday British quarters reported that the Red army and air force were "definitely doing well." Today British quarters declared that German troops seemed to be making progress in the Ukraine.

The Far Eastern situation continued unsettled. The government of the Dutch East Indies today joined the United States and Great Britain in freezing Japanese assets and credits.

Agreement Approved Japan's privy council, with Emperor Hirohito attending, held a four hour meeting and ratified Japan's agreement with France for "defense" of Indo-China.

Nazi planes raided London for the first time since June 26. Some damage was done and a number of people killed. Authorities declared that the British public was losing the "shelter habit" and

MARKET, HORSES COSTLY, BANK OFFICIAL ADMITS

ST. LOUIS, July 28—Arrested on his return from a vacation trip to Maine, Robert Bloom, 46, cashier at the Crevecoeur Farmers Bank, was under federal arrest in St. Louis today on charges he embezzled $39,000 of the bank's funds over a nine-year period.

Bloom was seized on a warrant issued by U. S. District Attorney Harry C. Blanton, and questioned by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He was alleged to have confessed he lost the money on the stock market and betting on horses.

EMPIRE HEARS HOPKINS VOW AID FROM U. S.

F. D.'s Emissary Declares Parallel Patrol Used; Bombers Praised

LONDON, July 28—Establishment of a parallel patrol of the Atlantic by American and British warships was revealed by Lease-Lend Administrator Harry Hopkins today.

Addressing the British empire by radio, Hopkins declared "nothing will be allowed to interfere" with an "endless assembly belt" stretching from the United States to Britain to insure delivery of American war material.

He said British and American naval vessels are "patrolling parallel lanes with only one object—to guard the world's life-line."

Hopkins told Britain that "you are not fighting alone" and said that during the last few months American-built planes "numbering in the thousands" have reached Britain and that the United States' plane construction program is now "far advanced."

He also promised quick assistance to Russia against Germany and China against Japan. He declared:

"We can promise there will be ships to carry food, oil and munitions. America will never allow the people of Britain to go hungry."

To Break Power

"Our President is one with your premier in the determination to break the ruthless power of sinful and psychopathic Berlin."

"Your premier and my President are 3,000 miles apart, but we no longer measure distance in miles."

"After all the Hun is only 21 miles from Dover (England). Yet he and his Pagan way of life are 2,000 years away from Dover. I did not come from America alone. I came in a bomber plane. With me there were 20 other bombers."

"During the last several months," he said, "airplanes numbering in the thousands, made in American factories, have been flown and shipped across the Atlantic, ranging from the largest bombers to the fastest fighters. They are in combat now."

"I have seen during the last week the great Boeing four-engine bombers returning from Germany."

"Our vast program for building thousands of these giants of the air is far advanced—and Hitler will not be able to move his factories far enough eastward to escape their devastating power of destruction."

FORESMAN CASE DISPUTING ROAD BUILDING BEGINS

Common Pleas Court, Monday, was considering the easement hearing of Nannie W. Foresman and others against the State Highway Department.

The court action concerns the plaintiff's refusal to accept the state's offer of $1,920 for easement rights on land over which Route 22 west of Circleville was constructed.

After the jury was picked it was taken to the scene of the disputed property rights and during the day began hearing testimony of 14 witnesses in the case. Nine witnesses will testify in behalf of the Foresman interests and five in behalf of the state.

Ray Davis is attorney for the Foresman interests and Charles Williams for the state highway department. The jury includes: C. E. Dick, Monroe Township; N. J. Higgins, Darby Township; Turney A. Leist, Washington Township; Emmitt Gibson, Deercreek Township; Wendell Evans, Perry Township; Charles H. Myers, Circleville; William D. In the Far East Japan indicated its "freeze" on American assets would be operated in accordance with the United States "freeze" on Japanese assets.

The Japanese foreign ministry said "elasticity" would be applied to operation of the Japanese order freezing American assets and that Tokyo's policy in this matter would depend on the stringency of the American "freeze."

Meanwhile a British (Reuters) dispatch from Hong Kong reported a "mass withdrawal" of Japanese civilians from Canton and Japanese-occupied areas of Kwangtung province in China.

New Plan Used

In the night raid on London German raiders apparently tried a new attack technique. Residents of one bombed area reported hearing an unfamiliar sound—something like that of a diving plane—quickly followed by an earth-shaking bomb explosion but not accompanied by the usual whine of a bomb.

When he stopped in front of Thompson's house, Thompson pulled him from the car and struck him in the face, Rudy said.

HORTON SMITH'S GREAT ROUND WINS TOP PRIZE

ST. PAUL, July 28 — A final round 63, nine strokes under par and equalling the tournament record, today left Horton Smith with his second St. Paul Open Golf championship and the $1,600 that goes with the title.

The Missouri veteran, who now registers out of Pinehurst, N. C., appeared hopelessly out of the race for first money as the field headed into the final 18 yesterday. His 213 at this stage was seven strokes over the total marked up by Joe Coria of St. Paul. It also was five strokes over the totals of Jimmy Thomson, Ralph Guldahl and Johnny Bulla.

But Smith found a deadly putter in the stretch, and when the totals went up his 276 was tops. Guldahl put together a pair of 69's for yesterday's 36 holes and took second money with 277. Thomson had 279. Coria faltered with his final 74 sent him down to a three-way tie for fourth money with Bulla and Ben Hogan.

Hogan, by notching into fourth spot, stretched to 52 the number of consecutive tournaments in which he has finished in the money.

FRENCHMEN EAT TOO MUCH, MUST MISS BREAKFAST

BERLIN, July 28—As a "punitive measure for eating too much," all guests of the Hotel Du Parc and Hotel Majestic in Vichy henceforth will be deprived of breakfast and "attendance," the Berlin radio reported from Vichy today.

(Editor's Note: The Hotel Du Parc is official headquarters of Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Petain and the Vichy government.)

The broadcast said:

"As from Monday on, all guests of the two government hotels — Du Parc and Majestic — will go without breakfast and attendance."

"This measure is, so to speak, a 'punitive' action by a subaltern authority, namely the governor of Moulins, against government officials, diplomats and journalists who came to Vichy not on pleasure but on business."

"They must have eaten too much meat, because the management of the hotels declares that government hotels in the months of January through March had consumed three times more meat than was accounted for by the tickets they handed over to the authority in question."

"The staffs of the hotels are particularly hit by the measure. 'A kind of revolutionary feeling has spread which fortunately has nothing to do with politics.'"

REDS REQUEST RIGHT TO BUY WAR SUPPLIES

WASHINGTON, July 28—Soviet Russia today asked the United States government for permission to purchase in this country large quantities of vital war supplies to help the Russian armies continue to hold Germany's Nazi legions in check.

Soviet Russia's needs were outlined to Assistant Secretary of State Dean Acheson by a Soviet military mission. The mission, headed by Gen. Philip Golikov, deputy chief of the Soviet general staff, was presented to Acheson by Soviet Ambassador Constantin Oumansky.

The military supplies requested by Russia were, it was learned, far in excess of what American officials feel this country can spare at the present time. However, an effort will be made to meet some of the Russian needs.

Draft Board Lists Order Numbers Given to Youths

Donald Layton Has First Serial Ranking; Questionnaires To Be Given Out

Order numbers for the county's 142 21-year-old registrants were announced Monday and with completion of the new draft list came an announcement from Selective Service officials that none of the youths is expected to be called into service for at least another month.

Next move on the part of the draft board will be to send questionnaires to the new group. The draft list shows that about 30 of the youths have order numbers below that of the last registrant to be called into service, which means that the class 1-A men with order numbers below 865 probably will be on the quick call list as soon as they have been classified and physically examined.

First sequence number went to Donald Seymour Layton, Circleville Route 2, which means that Layton was the first 21-year-old to have his serial number drawn in the national lottery in Washington. His order number is S-563 which means that he will be placed directly after the registrant in the old draft list who had order number 563.

Number 142, the highest sequence number in the new list went to George William Montgomery, Half Avenue, Circleville. His order number is S-2771.

FRANK BUCK

UNSUNG victims of World War II are Hollywood's jungle explorers whose movie treks to far-off lands are at an end until hostilities cease. Bound and fettered by international red tape, the man who made "Bring 'Em Back Alive," "Wild Cargo" and "Fang and Claw" languishes in New York and Hollywood, spending his time writing memoirs of the thrilling, death-defying exploits which brought him international fame. A copy of Buck's latest novel, "All In a Lifetime," which is in its third printing and rapidly reaching best-selling proportions after its initial publication earlier this year, has been presented to City Librarian Daniel Pfoutz with Frank Buck's compliments, together with a score of interesting still photographs from "Jungle Cavalcade," the Grand Theatre's current hit.

LITTLE CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICES

UNDER A BUSH

Every one knows what it means to hide one's light under a bushel. It's the same as placing it where it can't be seen. Any useful purpose the light could serve, therefore, is probably lost.

Much the same is true of a Public Notice posted in an out of the way place. This is true whether it is tacked to a fence corner off the beaten track or whether it is published in a medium whose circulation and coverage are anything but "general" in the community affected by the Notice.

The whole purpose of the Public Notice is to employ such means as are likely to bring the Notice to the prompt attention of those whose rights it involves. Short of direct personal notice, the newspaper is most effective for this purpose. But it should be a newspaper of general circulation, that is, distributed throughout the community in question and of such quality and contents as to have a general appeal.

The occasional practice of placing such Notices in other types of publications of limited or doubtful coverage is open to question. Generally speaking, local newspapers carrying bona fide general news and having a substantial general circulation are by far the best means of safeguarding public as well as private rights in carrying Public Notices.

EARL SWEPSTON, FEDERAL AUCTIONEER, IS ARRESTED

Earl Swebston, widely known auctioneer, was held under $15,000 bond Monday for federal grand jury action after being charged with embezzlement of government money. He was bound to the grand jury in U. S. Commissioner Robert Newlon's office in Columbus.

F.B.I. agents charge him with a shortage of $7,759.

Swebston is a former Chillicothean, but has been living in Columbus. He was arrested at a farm in Madison County.

Swebston is charged with alleged embezzlement through a sale conducted by him as federal court auctioneer of a bankrupt lumber firm at Middleport, O.

Among his large auctions was the sale of $33,000,000 of merchandise for the government at the Columbus Reserve Depot; auction of 3,800 mules and horses at the Camp Sherman remount station after the First World War and sale of the South Charleston, W. Va., government ordnance plant, which netted $21,000,000.

Several months ago he was the Federal Court auctioneer conducting the sale of the 36 properties of the defunct Sears and Nichols corporation at Chillicothe.

FINDS GOLD IN ROOM

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — When Hal Draper, Nevada City assayer, moves he moves dirt and all. His building is being vacated and torn down to make way for a parking lot. The building, erected in 1852, is one of the oldest brick structures in town. Kicking the dirt around in his assay shop, Draper discovered gold and started panning instead of moving. It is believed the gold escaped from the melting pot when the metal was originally being bricked.

EJECTING NAZIS

A GOOD start has been made in kicking Hitler out of this hemisphere. And in this job it is heartening to see the co-operation between Uncle Sam and Latin-America.

Many of our people may have overlooked the fact that two notable ejections of Hitler and his gang, the first in Uruguay last year and the second in Bolivia last week, have been accomplished by the two smallest countries in South America. They both made a thorough job of it, too. And their example will hearten the other countries of that continent.

As for the Latin nations on our own continent, below the Rio Grande, though small and weak except for Mexico, they will naturally present the same hostile front to attempts at Nazi intervention. They have their powerful Uncle Sam right next door to help them.

PUNCH'S FIRST CENTURY

"PUNCH", the British humor magazine, is 100 years old this month and still going as strong as the British spirit in the midst of war's devastation. Many Americans are not familiar with Punch and some who have seen it believe it proves that the English have no sense of humor. The rest know that it is living proof they have.

"Punch, like England," says a British tribute to this magazine, "can wax lazy at times and seem to have lost its pristine strength; but when the hour calls there is still the old spirit to animate and the old power to execute. Punch has printed many worthless things in its time; England has done foolish things and things unworthy of her greatness—but neither the country nor the periodical which best represents the character of the country has ever quite failed to rise fittingly to the urgency of a great need.

"In the issues of Punch today there is to be found gay laughter, a calm assurance and, deeper yet, a burning indignation directed against those who are attempting with raucous brutality to substitute a primitive barbarism for the law and order of civilization."

Hitler, as Secretary Knox observes, shows his contempt for the democracies by turning his back on them while he cleans up Russia.

It is betraying no military or racial secret to say that Hitler has caught a Tartar.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By— Charles P. Stewart

NAVY SECRETARY KNOX scored decidedly as a witness before the senate committee which summoned him for questioning as to his department's activities in and adjacent to the Atlantic war zone. Isolationistic solons were the chaps who sought to put him on the pan, on the ground that some of the orders he's issued to our sea forces have been of a nature calculated to involve them in actual fighting, which the non-interventionists have asserted is exactly what he's trying to do.

Yet when he was up for senatorial confirmation of his appointment to the cabinet post he now holds, he declared himself opposed to Uncle Sam's participation in foreigners' hostilities of any sort. So why, if he wants us to stay out of the present mess, his isolationistic questioners demanded, is he so hard-boiled today?

For the very reason, answered Frank, that, in order to stay out, we've GOTTA be hard-boiled. Any mushiness on our part, he insisted, won't keep us out; it'll drag us IN.

Colonel "Wild Bill" Donovan's presidential appointment as "co-ordinator of information" (defense information) for Uncle Sam suggests superficially that his duty's to be the giving of information OUT.

It's a wrong guess.

His job's to be the sucking of information IN. The government's information comes from a good many different sources—army intelligence, naval intelligence, the FBI, our diplomats abroad, et cet-

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

JAPAN PULLS SQUEEZE PLAY

WASHINGTON—On President Roosevelt's desk is a stack of confidential naval reports from the Far East which show that there are two big squeeze-plays behind the squadron of Japanese transports and warships which silently dropped anchor off south Indo-China.

As far as the United States is concerned, this may be the most important move of the entire war. For here is the double squeeze-play:

1. The Japanese want to keep the United States so worried over the Far East that no more ships will be sent to protect British shipping in the Atlantic, or to take the Azores and police Dakar.

2. Japan also will force the British to keep part of their fleet around Singapore, thus preventing heavy British concentrations in the Near East.

More than two years ago the Washington Merry-Go-Round reported the concern of the Navy Department in case the fleet had to be spread out over two oceans at once. It now looks as if this is exactly what the Navy now faces.

HITLER'S TIME TABLE

All of this Japanese maneuvering, according to the reports on Roosevelt's desk, is a definite part of the Hitler time-table. He has planned, first of all, to mop up the Red Army before cold weather descends on the windswept plains of Russia.

After that, and during the equable winter weather of the tropics, he will concentrate on the Mediterranean, the Near East, Suez, and later on India. This was one reason the Nazis paid no attention to the British advance into Syria. They figured they could wait and later put the squeeze on Syria from two sides.

While the Nazis are busy in the Near East, it is the Hitler plan for a simultaneous Japanese move on Singapore and the Dutch East Indies. Thus the British will have to be fighting in two places at once, will have to spread their naval forces thin, just as it is Hitler's present intention to force the United States to spread its naval forces thin.

Inside word is that there's a definite deal between Hitler and the Japanese for division of the spoils in the Orient. Japan, according to U. S. intelligence advices, will get French Indo-China, Siam, the Philippines, Singapore and the Malays, the Dutch East Indies, and Burma.

Germany will get all the rest—India, Iraq, Iran, Palestine, Egypt, and Syria—if, of course, Russia caves in and the Hitler time-table doesn't slow down. That is one big reason why there is so much rooting for Russia in Washington; why every military communique is put under the microscope so hopefully.

DEFENDING PACIFIC

As far as the United States is concerned, the Japanese move finds us not in the best of shape. The Japanese know it, and that is one reason they are moving with impunity.

There is plenty of the fleet left in the Pacific to defend our side of the pond—

Two Human Children Reared By Wolves

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I have read from time to time in the last few years reports of a missionary in India who found a human child that had been brought up with a family of wolves. I believed implicitly in Kipling's Mowgli and Romulus and Remus in my earlier days but I wore that belief out, along with some others, and I felt it was a little too much of a strain on my credulity to believe in this one.

Now comes a book from the Yale University Press, "Wolf Child and Human Child," in which such an unimpeachable authority as Dr. Arnold Gesell confirms the story, relates all the details and throws in some actual photographs for full measure.

Startling Facts

The bare facts certainly need no embellishing to startle one's imagination to its depths. In 1920 the Rev. J. A. L. Singh, a native Christian missionary in the parish of Midnapore near Calcutta, India, heard that a Man-Ghost had been seen in the jungle. The missionary and his wife with some of the villagers who had seen it went to the spot.

At dusk they saw an adult wolf come out of a hole followed by another of the same size and then by some cub, and then came the ghost—"a hideous looking being, hand, foot and body like a human being but the head was a big ball of something covering the shoulders, leaving only a sharp contour of a face visible and it was human. Close at its heels came another similar creature."

Two Children Found

The wolf den was broken into and the two human children taken back to the mission. They were both girls. One soon died. The other, christened Kamala, lived nine years. It was estimated she was eight years old when found.

The supposition is that when tiny babies they were left by their mother to play in the forest and a wolf mother whose cubs had died came along, lifted them gently in her mouth and took them to her den. Many such occurrences are known in India.

For a long time Kamala maintained her wolf-like ways. She progressed on all fours, either knees or toes and hands and elbows and had such callouses on the knees that she could not straighten her legs to stand upright. It was two years before she even stood on her knees to reach for something high.

Wolflike Habits

At three regular intervals during the night—ten in the evening, one and three in the morning—the wolf family howled to announce their whereabouts to distant packs—a language cry, not an expression of rage or fear. The human children joined in the eerie cry, and for years Kamala at the mission at ten, one and three (though she knew nothing of how to tell the time by the clock) would arise and give the wolf cry.

She growled if anyone came near her dish while eating. She came upon a dead chicken, devoured it completely, entrails and all.

Gradually she changed to human ways. First she accepted food and drink from human hands. She stood erect in 1923. Seven years after she came to the mission she spoke human words. The story of those changes is one of the most astounding human records ever made. It gives us, concludes Dr. Gesell, "new faith in the stamina of human nature and the potentialities of human growth."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Grandfather: "We have a new baby at our house and an argument came up regarding how old a baby is before it can see or distinguish any object or person. The parents claim it has to be three months before it can see. Will you kindly answer this through your column?"

Answer: The new-born infant evades the light during the first few weeks; the infant indicates by every sign that excessive light is too bright, but about the first week the eyes will somewhat follow a light in the room, and the child may turn its head for this purpose. The muscles of the eyes do not coordinate until about the end of the third month. Recognition of objects is not usually in evidence until six months. It is important that the room in which the new-born infant is placed should be darkened.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Castle of Contentment

By LORENA CARLETON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS

YLENA VARANOFF, young and pretty wife of THEODORE VINCENT, wealthy estate owner, arrives in La Madera. She sends ROSE, housekeeper for VERNON STONE, the Vincent family attorney, back east to keep her informed about

CARLYLE, Ylena's little daughter, who is in the custody of Vincent's mother. Ylena meets two young men in La Madera. One,

LATE CROMWELL, is arrogant, self-confident of his way with women. The other,

SCOTT HAMILTON, is a pleasant young dude rancher.

ESTERDAY: Theodore Vincent arrives unexpectedly and tells Ylena that Rose has had an "accident."

CHAPTER NINE

FEAR and horror closed Ylena's throat. She couldn't breathe. She stretched an arm toward the back of a chair and supported herself until she could reach it and sit down. So Rose had had an accident! That was why she had not written lately. But what had kept Vernon Stone silent about such a disaster?

"I even fooled old Stone," Vincent went on gloatingly. "So smart. So clever. And so in sympathy with you. He looked in the morgue and in all the hospitals. But he wasn't smart enough to look in the rest homes—that is, the very special kind of rest home that would have to handle a very special case like Rose." He gave an ugly laugh. "So you see, Ylena, my money still can accomplish anything."

How well she knew the mightiness of the Vincent money. It was that money that had compromised her, as she sped north from Florida to get control of Carlyle. The Vincent money had sent a dependable, professional rat into her train compartment. Such an old trick and such a successful one. In the one obnoxious second necessary for Vincent's detectives to catch her in a man's arms, her chances had been crushed. Vainly she had explained she was fighting. FIGHTING! The man was a stranger. But no one believed her.

Ylena forced herself to look at her former husband. He still was smiling, his plump, veined cheeks rising into the lined circles beneath dissipated eyes.

Slowly she said, "I should think you'd be afraid to tell me these things, Theodore."

"Why should I? You'd be afraid to repeat them. You're such a milk-sop. Besides, when you come back to me, everything ends happily. I get you, you get Carlyle, Stone gets Rose." He brought out a leather covered flask and drank heavily. "I was a fool to let you leave me in Miami, Ylena. That's why I played that trick on you. I wanted to scare you back to me. I didn't dream you'd have the nerve to go ahead with the divorce. Well, you did, and you got exactly what you deserved."

He watched the agonized girl closely. He had forgotten how beautiful her eyes were when filled with anger. It had been a pleasure to keep her that way. He had forgotten, too, how her upper lip quivered when she was frightened. It was doing it now. Suddenly he was overcome with a sense of loss and an aching desire for this girl, the only girl who ever had dared fight him.

"I want you back, Ylena." "I'll never come back." "Not even for Carlyle?" "You don't have Carlyle," she told him evenly and watched him flush.

"So Rose has told you that, too, huh?" The rain came down with a new intensity and rattled against the windows. Thunder, strange in a fall storm, crashed and rumbled about their ears. Vincent took another drink from the flask.

"You'll have to come back to me some time, Ylena. You'll eventually starve out." Her eyes were chilled with hatred as she shifted them toward him. "I shan't starve," she unwisely gloated. "You've forced me back to the simple life and I've conquered it. I've learned to live beautifully on $150 a month."

Vincent sprang from his chair. He clutched the bodice of her gown in a twisted grip and held her motionless. "Where are you getting

Unwaveringly she watched him, her finger pressed gently against the trigger.

And then she knew where it really came from. Vernon Stone! Of course. She had thought his signature only a power-of-attorney gesture. She looked into Theodore Vincent's raging, darkened face and set her lips in a mutinous line. No wonder he had waited patiently for her return.

"Vernon Stone," he softly jeered. "Vernon Stone again. Allowance—and he's sent you some furniture. Oh, I recognize that Sheraton desk, Ylena, and those two oil paintings. You're doing nicely without my help, aren't you? You have sweethearts, besides. Yes, Ylena, you're very popular." Still holding her, he stepped back of her chair and curved his other hand about her throat. Tightly.

Then he bent and kissed her shoulders, swiftly moved his mouth to hers and closed upon her lips in a repulsive, brandy-scented kiss. Across his cheeks he felt her fingernails, rapid and sharp, but he did not release her. That pain was slight in comparison to the pleasure of humiliating her.

"Very popular," he said again, finally, and stood erect. "Even I want you." Lingeringly he drew his finger tips across scratched cheeks. For a second he gazed at her humorously at the spots of blood, then his mood changed instantaneously and he began to shake with a violent, purple anger.

"You," he yelled. "You who wept about losing your precious baby, who screamed and fainted all over the courtroom like some Russian peasant because she was taken away from you. Oh, they knew what you were. And they were right. I'll see to it that you never see her again!"

In a fierce wrath he stalked about the room. Violently he kicked the Sheraton desk. He slung his flask at the oil painting over the fireplace. And then his eyes fell upon the photograph of Carlyle in its white velvet frame atop the mantel. Sensing his plans, Ylena ran to him and grabbed his arm, but he slung her aside with a brutal, winged upward shove of the elbow.

As he snatched the picture, Ylena again pulled at his arm. This time he slapped her cruelly. She was screaming with a wild stormy hatred as he smashed the glass protection and began tearing the photograph. Then abruptly she was silent. She wasn't even in the room, but Theodore Vincent had not missed her. He was too intent on tossing the scraps of paper that had been Carlyle's image into the smouldering red coals.

At last when he looked up, he gasped, then exploded with laughter. Ylena stood in the archway between her bedroom and the living room, holding a shotgun. "You might have to shoot a chicken hawk," Scott Hamilton had told her that morning, and forced her to take the weapon.

Something in her set-eyed expression sobered Vincent, but he stood his ground. "Ylena," he began uncertainly.

"It may interest you to know," she interrupted, "that I—" Uncontrollably her voice faded. As the man before her relaxed she drew a spasmodic breath and threatened him with new-born strength. "I can split the whiskers on a mountain lion with this thing."

"Why, you little fool! You wouldn't dare kill me." "Of course not! But I'll put as many shot in your leg as you won't care anything about, walking for quite a while. And I'd get by with it. Oh, I should have thought about this sooner," she exulted. "You're in the West now. Out here you're not Theodore Vincent. You're just a trespasser in MY house!"

Unwaveringly she watched him, her finger gently pressed against the trigger. Not once did the strange smile leave her face. Vincent ran his tongue over dry lips. "My God, Ylena, I believe you've lost your mind. You can't get away with this."

"For the time being I can," she returned with confidence. "And I'll manage the future when it gets here. So make up your mind whether you're leaving or taking a shot in the leg." Through her busy brain flashed the comfort that even without being there Scott Hamilton was protecting her.

Very slowly, Theodore Vincent put on the dripping topcoat that he boldly had slung across Ylena's best satin chair, soon after his arrival. Trying to pretend he was not frightened, he nevertheless gave way rapidly to her gradual march toward him.

"I'm going," he assured her. "I'm going." As he put his hand on the doorknob, he turned and snorted incredulously. "Ylena, the milkop! The door slammed after him. Soon an automobile swiftly moved away, and again all was quiet. So ominously so that when the telephone rang, Ylena jumped and cried out. It was Scott Hamilton calling from the Northern Ranch to make sure everything was all right.

"Oh, yes," the girl assured him in clear, confident tones. "There was a chicken hawk here—but I fixed him!"

3. In the early days of President Roosevelt's Administration what foreign conference was held in an attempt to solve the depression?

Words of Wisdom

Aim at the sun, and you may not reach it; but your arrow will fly far higher than if aimed at an object on a level with yourself.—J. Hawes.

Hints on Etiquette

If you are "sweet 16" and have your first home date with a boy, plan what you will do beforehand. Consult your mother as to what you may do, how late the boy should stay, etc. Plan some games that two can play, some music, maybe, and some refreshments out in the kitchen. Send him home right on time.

Today's Horoscope

For those who have birthdays today, the signs for the next year are favorable. Unexpected pleasure and success through the employment of novel methods in business are portended. Favorable transactions with elders, land or property are also prognosticated. An exceptionally clever brain will be bestowed upon the child who is born on this date. He or she will be artistic and spiritually minded, and much inherent goodness will be manifested. Much good fortune is also prophesied for this child.

Methodist Church Scene of Dunlap-Hedges Vows

Bride Attired In Quaint Wedding Gown

White alencon lace and net fashioned the quaint wedding gown of Miss Evelyn Ruth Dunlap when she became the bride of Mr. Richard A. Hedges of Columbus at an open church wedding Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in the Methodist Church. The lace bodice was finished with a plum which blended gracefully into the full sweeping skirt of crisp white net. A narrow net frill outlined the sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves completed the shepherdess theme of the frock. Her double half veil of bridal illusion fell from a garland of waxed orange blossoms. She carried a colonial bouquet of white gladioli.

Miss Dunlap was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Floyd Dunlap, of 454 North Court Street.

The single ring service was read by the Rev. Neil Peterson before the altar banded for the occasion with baskets of peach and white gladioli and other mid-summer flowers against a cool green background of massed ferns. White candles burned in cathedral candelabra.

Mrs. Dudley Carpenter sang "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life," Herbert, "I Love You Truly," Carrie Jacobs-Bond, "All for You," Bertrand-Brown, and "At Dawning," by Cadman, during the program of music preceding the ceremony. Mrs. Ervin Leist, at the organ, played "Melody in F," Rubinstein, "Oh, Promise Me," R. de Koven, "Salut d'Armour," by Elgar, and "Because," by Guy d'Hardelot, before the Lohengrin "Wedding March." Mrs. Leist played "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" during the nuptial service.

Miss Lucille McClure served as maid of honor for Miss Dunlap. Her bridesmaids were Miss Jane Drum of Columbus and Miss Dorothy Walker of Chillicothe.

The gowns worn by the attendants were of sheerest nylon. Miss McClure wearing peach, Miss Drum and Miss Walker, aqua. The sweetheart necklines and short puffed sleeves were edged with narrow bands of quilted nylon. Two saucy butterfly bows of peach and aqua grosgraine were poised on the full skirts, the colors contrasting with the shades of the frocks. Each carried a small nosegay of rose buds and wore a tiara of matching flowers.

Mr. Edgar Hedges of Ashville was best man for his brother.

Mr. Jerry Miller and Mr. James Gray, also of Ashville, served as ushers.

Garden flowers decorated the Dunlap home for the reception which followed the wedding. About 75 guests were present.

The large wedding cake which centered the candle lighted table in the dining room was served with wedding moulds of ice cream after the bride served the first slice to her bridegroom.

Mrs. Carl Purcell, Miss Dorothy Fausnaugh of Circleville and Miss Rosemary Greeno of Columbus were assisting hostesses.

Mr. Hedges and his bride left during the late afternoon for a week's trip to Michigan. For traveling, Mrs. Hedges wore a black faille suit, black off-the-face moire hat and matching accessories, a white chiffon blouse and white gloves were interesting contrasting notes of her outfit.

They will reside at 1346 Northwest Boulevard, Grandview, when they return.

The former Miss Dunlap, a Circleville High School and Blis Business College graduate, is employed in the bureau of unemployment compensation, Columbus.

Mr. Hedges, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Hedges of near Ashville, is a senior in the college of agriculture, Ohio State University and is employed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the division of plant industry.

Pontius-Dreisbach Vows Read Sunday Afternoon

Four large baskets of yellow and peach gladioli guarded either side of the approach to the altar of Trinity Lutheran Church when Miss Maxine Dreisbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dreisbach of Pickaway Township, and Mr. Harold Pontius, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Pontius of near Ashville, exchanged their wedding vows Sunday afternoon. Two seven branch cathedral candelabra completed the decorations for the single ring service at which the Rev. George L. Troutman officiated.

The program of wedding music played at the organ by Miss Anna Schleyer during the half hour preceding the ceremony included "Love's Greeting," by Hastings, "Jean," by Burleigh, "All for You," Bertrand-Brown, "Spring Song," Mendelssohn, and "Until," by Sanderson, the soft strains of "Still is the Night" being heard during the service. Mrs. G. L. Troutman's two solos were "Because," by d'Hardelot, and "The Marriage Hymn," by Oliver.

Mr. David Glick, Walnut Creek Pike, and Mr. Wayne Brown, Madison Township, served as ushers and preceded the bridal party down the aisle.

Miss Dorothy Kohler of Laurelville, in a smart blue sharkskin street frock with a shoulder corsage of deep pink rose buds, and Miss Elsie Updyke, in a similar dress of pink with yellow rose bud corsage, served as bridesmaids. They wore attractive white summer hats and used white accessories.

Miss Eyer Dreisbach, who was maid of honor for her sister, and the bride chose dresses differing only in color, that of the attendant being green sharkskin, the bride wearing rose. Made with short sleeves, slightly boxed at the shoulders, the collarless blouses had large smoked pearl buttons down the fronts. Tucked pockets trimmed the flared skirts, large white off-the-face hats and white accessories completed their outfits. The bride's corsage was of white rose buds, her sister's of yellow buds and blue delphinium.

The attendants wore four-strand pearl necklaces, the gifts of the bride.

The bride came to the altar on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage.

Mr. James Pontius served as best man.

A reception to which 85 guests were invited was held at the Dreisbach home following the wedding. Mrs. Dreisbach wore navy georgette and Mrs. Pontius, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue and white sheer when they joined the bridal party in receiving the guests. Their shoulder corsages were of red rose buds.

Many summer flowers made the home attractive for the occasion. Miss Helen Mast, Miss Josephine Wolfe, Miss Eleanor Dreisbach, Miss Edith Dunkle, Mrs. Winifred Dumm of the Circleville community and Miss Virginia Dreisbach of Columbus assisted in the dining room where refreshments were served. A three tiered wedding cake centered the table, flowers and candles completing the setting.

Miss Marjorie Dreisbach played piano music during the reception hour.

Mr. Pontius and his bride will reside at the home of her parents when they return after a short wedding trip.

STARS SAY—

For Monday, July 28

Monday's astrological forecast is for much satisfaction and success of a stable and enduring nature, coming not only through sound sense, industry and application, but by daring to be original, to introduce fresh, novel and untried or experimental techniques to possibly static, lagging or crystallized conditions. Constructive measures of manipulating uncommon ideas, even peculiar notions, should command the support of the public, elders, superiors or large corporations, with surprising results and increased personal possessions and prestige.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which to demonstrate some of their original ideas, unusual concepts or inventions, by practical and constructive methods, sound reasoning and good judgment as well as by unique or unprecedented ways and means. This should win the co-operation of elders, superiors, the public and those in position to furnish capital for promotion or experiment. Results should be a stability of the fortunes, with accumulated property and possessions as well as increased prestige and recognition.

A child born on this day should have many phases of talent and ability, sound and constructive as well as unique, original and excellent.

LIPPY HAS BIRTHDAY, BUT IT ISN'T HAPPY

PITTSBURGH, July 28 — Lippy Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, looked back on his 35th birthday this morning hoping he'd never have another one so unhappy.

Durocher received several congratulatory messages before the Dodgers' doubleheader with Pittsburgh yesterday, but few persons had enough brass to wish the Lip, "many happy returns," after his Flatbush Flock blew two contests to the Pirates and fell a pair of crucial games behind the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League pennant race.

Howard Jones, Famed Grid Mentor, Dies At 55

LOS ANGELES, July 28 — The sports world today mourned the death of one of football's greatest figures—Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California.

Stricken suddenly, he died yesterday at his home in suburban North Hollywood before his physician could reach his side. Death was due to a heart attack.

Death of the famed mentor of the Trojans, who was 55, cut another link in the famous "Big Four" of football. Knute Rockne, Notre Dame's inspirational leader, met death in an airplane crash in 1931. Remaining are Amos Alonzo Stagg and Glenn Scobey (Pop) Warner.

Jones had been head coach at USC since 1925, and under him the Trojan teams, formerly rated as mediocre, climbed to the peak of football fame.

At their height, under his quiet, firm leadership, the USC teams were the most spectacular powerhouses of modern gridiron history. When they were performing to perfection with his power play style of coaching, they ran roughshod over some of the finest aggregations in the country, earning for themselves the name of "the Thundering Herd."

Five Time Winner
Five Jones-coached USC teams represented the Pacific Coast in the Rose Bowl — and won each time. Four times his teams broke up a long string of Notre Dame victories, the most spectacular being in the Rose Bowl in 1931 when the Trojans, trailing 14 to 0, came from behind to the final quarter to win, 16 to 14.

Jones and Rockne were great rivals. In fact, their rivalry was the very soul of football glamour during the halcyon years of the late 1920's.

In his 16 seasons at USC, Jones' teams won or tied for the Pacific Coast Conference title eight times.

His life-time coaching record was 193 games won, 63 lost and 20 tied.

Three of his teams, those of 1928, 1931 and 1939, were awarded the unofficial national championship under the Dickinson rating system. His 1932 team was undefeated and also was generally acclaimed national champion.

Twenty all-American players were produced by Jones' coaching, among them Morley Drury, Cotton Warburton, Morton Kaer, Francis Tappan, Ernie Pinkert, Ernie Smith and Gordon Locke.

Jones, born in Exello, Ohio, August 23, 1885, began his football career at Yale University, where he played left end for three years. On his graduation in 1908 he became coach at Syracuse University and there accomplished the feat of piloting an unheralded team to victory over the great Yale.

The feat won him the post of coach at Yale, and he made football history his first year there. With a string of 10 victories and no defeats, he piloted Yale to the national championship.

Served At Ohio

In 1910 Jones went to Ohio for a three-year period, then back to Yale for three years. In 1916 he began an eight-year stay at Iowa. He coached Duke for one season, in 1924, and the following year succeeded Elmer C. (Gloomy Gus) Henderson at USC.

WHIRLWAY LOSES, BUT FACES ATTENTION AGAIN

CHICAGO, July 28—There was disappointment but no dismay today in the camp of Whirlway, Calumet Farm's triple-crown winner which was upset in the Arlington Classic Saturday by Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention.

Trainer Ben Jones disclosed that Whirlway will go after revenge for his defeat in the $60,000 Arlington feature within the month. After going east to run in the Travers Stakes at Saratoga August 16, he will come back to Chicago for another meeting with Attention on August 23, in the American Derby at Washington Park.

"We have no excuses for Saturday's defeat," Jones said. "Whirlway just wasn't the horse that he has been—and will be again."

Attention's classic time was relatively slow—2:04 4/5 for the mile and a quarter. He finished more than a length to the good over the Calumet Farm champion, who this time did not have enough left for the final dash. The start was so slow, with Whirlway getting away late, that Jockey Al Shelhamer gave Whirlway his head sooner than usual, but when the test came in the homestretch the big champ did not have his famous final sprint left.

In perfect trim and ready for the weigh-in at Newark's City Hall today prior to their title battle in Ruppert Stadium tonight, Zivic was widely favored to retain his title, although the quoted odds on the camp were only 3 to 1.

The Reds go back to the baseball wars tomorrow, when Elmer "The Great" Riddle will go after his 12th win, the Giants as foes.

In the nightcap Bucky Walters was charged with his eighth loss against a dozen wins as the Reds again gathered only a quartet of bingles. The Phils meantime smacked out a dozen lusty blows good for their eight counters.

The Reds go back to the baseball wars tomorrow, when Elmer "The Great" Riddle will go after his 12th win, the Giants as foes.

Several matches are to be played in First and Second Flights brackets. The matches and the remaining contestants in these flights will be listed later in the week.

TWO UNDERDOG OUTFITS MOVE UP IN LEAGUES

Philadelphia Athletics And Pittsburgh Pirates Showing Ability

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, July 28 — Just when everybody thought the St. Louis Browns finally had found themselves and were about to do some climbing in the American League standings, they reached Philadelphia a week ago, ultimately took a resounding flop back into the cellar and now it is the Athletics who are crowding into headlines dominated by the surge of the Yankees and the collapse of the Indians. In a few brief pointed words the A's are in the first division, threatening to finish about third unless the Red Sox show more life.

With an open date in both leagues today, the Yankees rested on an 11½ game lead over the Indians, who were four games ahead of the Red Sox, who, in turn, were four games ahead of the Athletics, and Chicago White Sox. Being fourth in a strange, almost unbelievable sojourn among the elite insofar as those generally whipped down white elephants are concerned. But they're playing that kind of baseball.

In the National League, it is the Pittsburgh Pirates who are threatening dire things for more highly favored teams. Those Pirates, under the dynamic and hustling Frankie Frisch are playing ball reminiscent of that turned in by Frisch's great Gashouse Gang at St. Louis and they are making a great bid for third money, 8½ games behind the second place Brooklyn Dodgers, who are two behind the leading Cardinals.

PICKAWAY COUNTY'S 1942 WHEAT ACREAGE REDUCED BY 6,368 ACRES

12.5 PERCENT SLASH ORDERED TO CUT SURPLUS

Rigid Marketing Quota To Be Decided On Prior To Harvest

NEW RULINGS DISCLOSED

Over $150,000 In Loans Already Made On Grain Cut This Year

Pickaway County's 1942 wheat allotment under the AAA program will be cut about 12½ percent, County AAA Chairman John G. Boggs announced Monday.

The reduction represents 6,368 acres of wheat land, leaving the county's allotment for next year 50,615 acres. The 1941 allotment was 56,983 acres.

Primary purpose of the reduction is to meet the wheat surplus with a cut in wheat acreage in an effort to keep market prices from falling below normal, county AAA officials said.

Along with the announcement that the county would take a cut in its wheat acreage came a report from county AAA authorities that rigid marketing quotas would be proposed next year, the program to be placed before the farmers in a referendum vote.

If the quota program fails to carry next year, that 1941 wheat which has been stored on the farm will be declared free wheat and will not be subject to the 49 cent penalty, AAA officials explained.

Defeat Means No Loans
Defeat of the quota system, however, county committees pointed out, will mean that farmers will receive no wheat loans next year.

So far this year 239 wheat loans have been issued in the county. They represent 131,561.9 bushels of wheat for a total loan value of $154,927.16.

To encourage a reduction in wheat acreage next year, the AAA is proposing that wheat growers who had excess wheat this year under the marketing quota provisions plant under their 1942 allotments as much as they were over this year and have their 1941 excess wheat released for sale, provided it has been stored under bond.

With the county's wheat harvest almost over, about 150 wheat marketing cards remain at the AAA office to be turned over to farmers who have paid their 49 cent penalty on their marketing excess wheat or who have stayed within their allotments.

Fields Being Checked

Community committees now are checking fields for 1941 compliance with the government program. Land signed under the AAA program represents approximately 70 percent of the total farm land of the county. Complete compliance with the AAA program would bring about $500,000 to Pickaway County farmers this fall in the form of AAA checks.

COUNTY HEALTH STANDING GOOD DURING MONTH

Commissioner Cites July As Second Consecutive One Without Quarantine

USUAL REPORT ON FILE

115 Children Checked For Defects; Clinic Result Told By Blackburn

July marks the second consecutive month that Pickaway County has been free from quarantine for communicable disease.

County Health Commissioner A. D. Blackburn said this was the longest period in four years that the county has been free from quarantine. June and July have been relatively free from all types of disease, the health commissioner said.

During July health officials continued to examine children under the Division of Public Assistance, checking 115 boys and girls and making notations of all physical defects.

Several children in the group examined had enlarged or diseased tonsils and a few had poor vision. Plans are being made by the Division of Public Assistance to correct these defects. Health officials said they noticed a marked improvement in the physical condition of the children since the last examination. Diphtheria toxoid was given to 24 children and two were vaccinated.

As a part of the National Defense program, the United States government and the State Department of Health are urging all Selective Service registrants who have been rejected from military service because of positive serological blood tests be placed under treatment in order that they may be restored to usefulness as quickly as possible. Prompt investigations of the source of infectious cases and of the contacts of such patients are being made to prevent further dissemination of the infection.

Several dog bites were reported during the month, according to the Health Commissioner's report. The dogs in question were sent to the state laboratory for examination, but all were reported negative. No Pasteur treatments were given.

Seven tonsil operations were performed and several other children have been placed on a waiting list for future operations. Six field trips were made to private premises for investigation of sanitary conditions, and 40 patients were examined in the health clinic on July 16 by Dr. M. D. Miller of the Franklin County Tuberculosis Sanatorium. Thirty-four chest X-rays were made at Berger Hospital and one patient was sent to Franklin County Sanatorium for treatment.

Physical examinations were given to 31 boys who went to the Kiwanis Club camp.

and then some. But any action across the widest part of the Pacific around Singapore is something else again.

The Japanese also know that we have some PBYS around the Philippines and south. These are giant naval patrol bombers capable of cruising more than 5,000 miles. No attempt was made to hide the fact that these big bombers were flown out to the Philippines, Hawaii, Guam and Wake, and the Japanese know they are not to be sneezed at.

The reports on Roosevelt's desk do not indicate that Japan will attack Singapore or the Dutch East Indies now. Chief value of the present move is (1) to keep us from moving more ships into the Atlantic to take the Azores and other key islands; (2) to get entrenched in Indo-China ready for the attack when Hitler is ready to give the signal in the Near East.

The Japanese would have a tough time taking Singapore now; also the Dutch East Indies. They would have to wait until the British were materially weakened. But meanwhile they can, and probably will, take unfortified Borneo (belonging to the Dutch and British) in the relatively near future.

FRENCH LESSONS FOR U.S.A.

In Vichy these days, the French General Staff has almost nothing to do except sit at little cafe tables, and drink coffee. There were some good men on the French General Staff, though bogged down by over-aged superiors. And now with plenty of time on their hands, these officers occupy themselves with plotting what they would do if they were running the operations in the various war theatres.

Not long ago they gave to American newsmen in Vichy this formula for winning the war. If they were directing the strategy of the United States, they said, they would stage an immediate naval and bombing attack on Tokyo.

Japan is sure to come to grips with the United States anyway, they argued, so it is far better for the U. S. A. to pick the time of battle and its place rather than waiting until Japan and Germany have seriously weakened or knocked out the British fleet.

An American attack on Tokyo, the French General Staff argued, would devastate the paper and bamboo capital, take Japan out of the war, and cause such terrific reactions on the German people that Hitler could hardly continue fighting.

What Europe is watching, said

the French officers, is whether the United States really means business—and before it is too late. A strong initiative by the United States, they said, could easily end the war now.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Editors of German-American newspapers, summoned to Washington for the trial of the German news agency, Trans-Ocean, enjoyed a profitable junket. One editor from the West Coast, though not called on to testify, drew down $400 in expenses—5 cents a mile plus $4.50 per diem. . . . British officials in Washington always send two copies of communications to London, one by sea and one by air. For a time, they found that nearly all sea-borne correspondence was lost. Air mail was much safer. . . . A newsman entered a War Department office which bore the letters "OUSW" on the door. He asked an Army deskman what the letters meant. The deskman didn't know, and asked another. But he didn't know. Finally, the truth came out. "OUSW" stands for Office of the Under Secretary of War.

CITY'S POLICE HAVE BUSY WEEK END; NINE ARRESTED

Six persons remained in City Jail Monday on drunk and disorderly charges following a busy week end for police.

During Saturday and Sunday nights nine persons were taken to police headquarters for intoxication. Three of them, posted bonds and were released. Of the nine arrested charges of disorderly conduct were filed against two in addition to the intoxication charges. Charges of assault and battery will be filed against another, police said.

Police attributed the number of intoxicants to the hot weather.
